COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Dec. 30, 1899.

To His Excellency ROGER WOLCOTT,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

GOVERNOR:—I have the honor most respectfully to submit my annual report for the year 1899.

MILITIA.

The entry into the United States service of six regiments from the militia, and the individual enlistments from other organizations, which did not, and their return to the State service, has entailed much additional labor on this office during the year now closing.

The Sixth Regiment, U. S. Volunteers, was mustered out Jan. 21, 1899.

The Fifth Regiment returned from the volunteer service and was mustered out March 31, 1899.

The Eighth Regiment returned from volunteer service and was mustered out April 28, 1899. I refer you to the final reports of the commanding officers of the above regiments.

To the credit of the militia, all returning organizations promptly resumed their places in the militia, and by their earnest and loyal work were generally in good condition to perform their camp duty and annual drill, showing a good attendance and a willingness to improve. The camps were instructive, the troops of the Commonwealth are well in hand, and will soon regain the standard which obtained previous to the war. Too much credit cannot be accorded the officers and men of the militia for that which they have accomplished in reorganization and the successful re-establishing of the State force after the war. All the credit which is cheerfully accorded them belongs to them. Their experience in the field will another year place them at a higher standard than ever, for from experience comes knowledge.

Company M, Naval Brigade, located at Gloucester, was found to be below the proper standard, and, on reports received, the company was disbanded August 19.

Company B, Eighth Regiment, M. V. M., did not report for duty during the year after its return from United States service. Ample time was given this company to re-establish itself in the militia, and, nothing having been done by them to this end, the company was disbanded September 29.

The number of militia allowed by law is 476 officers and 6,116 enlisted men.

TOURS OF DUTY.

The militia performed its camp duty and annual drill under orders of Your Excellency, and generally in good numbers. For details of the duty performed I refer you to the report of the Inspector General.

February 16 the First Battalion Cavalry, Maj. Wm. A. Perrins commanding, performed escort duty to the President of the United States, on the occasion of his visit to Boston, February 15, 16 and 17. Battery A was detailed for salute duty. A detail from the First Corps of Cadets acted as guard of honor at the President's hotel during his stay.

June 25, Troop A, First Battalion Cavalry, performed escort duty to Your Excellency on the annual visit to Harvard College.

The First Brigade performed its camp duty at South Framingham, August 19 to 26 inclusive, excepting the First Regiment of Heavy Artillery, they performing their camp duty at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, August 12 to 18 inclusive.

The Second Brigade performed its camp duty at South Framingham, on August 3 to 9 inclusive.

The First Corps of Cadets performed its camp duty and annual drill at Hingham, July 8 to 15 inclusive.

The Second Corps of Cadets performed its camp duty at Boxford, August 12 to 18 inclusive.

The Naval Brigade performed its camp duty afloat on board the U. S. S. "Prairie," the command being made into two details, each cruising for seven days.

Details were made for funeral escorts to deceased soldiers.

The annual drill required by law was originally ordered in Boston for October 9, but was changed to October 14, on account of the visit of Admiral George Dewey. The troops assembled promptly, fully equipped, and, under command of Your Excellency, performed escort duty to the Admiral. After the parade the entire militia were massed on Boston Common, and the flags of the Massachusetts Regiments in the Spanish war were turned over to the Commonwealth and escorted to the State House, where they were deposited in this department temporarily, and a few days later were turned over to the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms, to be placed in Memorial Hall (when same is finished), in accordance with a resolve of the Legislature. The following colors taken from the State were turned over by the troops on their return from United States service : —

First, Second, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth and Ninth Regiments, one national and one State color each. The Eighth Regiment returned four additional colors, one national and one State, drawn from the Quartermaster General's department of the State after its entry into service, and one national and one regimental color issued to the regiment by the United States government and sent to this department by the War Department.

The Naval Brigade turned over the colors of the ships on which they served. In nearly every instance the brigade furnished both commanding officers and men for the ships U. S. S. "Prairie," "Lehigh," "Catskill," "Inca" and "Governor Russell."

The action of Your Excellency in requesting of the general government that all of the above colors be turned over to the State, secured the colors for deposit in the State House, as was done with the colors borne by Massachusetts regiments in the civil war.

Company K, Ninth Regiment Infantry, located at Clinton, was called out to perform guard duty at a fire in that town on December 4. The company reported promptly in full numbers, and performed good service.

HEAVY ARTILLERY.

Progress in this work has been delayed during the year, the details of getting regiments into shape requiring all the time possible. The First Regiment Heavy Artillery have, under the circumstances, done all they could do in connection with other work. The appropriation for providing equipment for this drill was $3,500, of which $47.50 has been expended. Contracts are being prepared for this work, and it will be completed.

ACTS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Chapter 359, Acts of 1899, limited the number of Governor's staff to be appointed, and fixed the rank of such appointments. The act provided that it should in no way affect the present staff of the present Commander-in-Chief.

Chapter 302, Acts of 1899, gave authority to place officers on the retired list who served in the war of the rebellion and were honorably discharged; also that any officers who had been retired shall receive the rank which they would have had if retired after the passage of chapter 84, Acts of 1898.

Chapter 381, Acts of 1899, changed the board of examiners to seven members, and required written examinations, also giving the right to appeal to any officers appearing before said board.

Chapter 22, Resolves of 1899, authorized the Governor to cause the battle flags of Massachusetts organizations which served in the war with Spain, to be deposited in the State House, not to be removed without the permission of the General Court. The flags were turned over to this department by the various organizations on their return from United States service by permission granted by the War Department.

ENROLLED MILITIA.

Returns from cities and towns show the number enrolled, as per table attached, to be 453,537, showing an increase of 4,618.

RIFLE PRACTICE.

This branch of the service could not be prosecuted with the earnestness of other years, as returning troops from war service were not able to comply with all conditions. Under efficient management the work was performed as far as possible. Col. Richard D. Sears, Assistant Adjutant General, was Acting Inspector General of Rifle Practice until retired from that duty by the appointment of Col. James A. Frye as head of the department, July 1, 1899, and I refer you to that efficient officer's report for the details of his department. The appropriation for this work was $15,000, of which $10,556.33 has been expended.

ARMORIES.

The armories of the militia were reoccupied by returning troops, and remain substantially as before the war with Spain. Returns from cities and towns were received and allowances were made, approved by Your Excellency after full inquiries as to the fitness of the armories furnished.

The total amount of the appropriation for armory rents was $37,000. There has been paid to cities and towns the amount of $36,958.34.

The two armories at Boston and one each at Springfield, Worcester, Lynn, Fitchburg, Fall River, Lowell and Lawrence are under absolute control of this department, and all bills of heating, lighting, furnishings and repairs are paid from appropriation for that purpose. The amount appropriated was $22,000. Of this amount, the sum of $21,181.07 has been expended.

The armory at Northampton was reported, after a thorough inspection, as being unsafe, and was condemned, and the company ordered not to use drill hall, as it was deemed unsafe.

The matter of State control of armories and rifle ranges, reported by a board of officers in 1898 and referred to the Legislature, should receive consideration this year, as well as the providing of riding schools for officers and mounted men.

The appropriation for maintaining the U. S. S. "Minnesota" as an armory for the Naval Brigade was $4,000. Of this amount, there has been expended $3,464.70.

PROVISIONAL MILITIA.

The provisional militia companies, organized in place of the Fifth and Eighth Regiments, who entered the United States Service, were all disbanded early during the year, in accordance with law, on return of the above regiments to the State service.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.

All money accounts received, excepting those due Jan. 1, 1900, have been certified to the Auditor for payment.

There has been expended for pay and transportation of troops, Adjutant General's and clerks' salaries, and direct expenses of the militia, $168,267.49.

The appropriation for allowance to janitors and armorers was $7,000. Of this amount, $5,954.60 has been expended.

The appropriation for allowance for repairs to companies, paid on the average attendance at all tours of duty, was $9,000. Of this amount, $8,307.85 has been expended.

The amount expended by the regular war record department for salaries of clerks, printing and postage is $6,200.

On Jan. 1, 1899, there was standing to the credit of the Commonwealth at Washington, of the appropriation allotted to States for equipping the militia, $15,148.66. The allotment of July 1, 1899, was $12,939.18, which increased the amount available to $28,087.84. From this amount supplies have been drawn, leaving a balance in favor of the Commonwealth of $16,053.66.

The amount available at the navy department Jan. 1, 1899, for equipping the Naval Brigade, was $6,006.14. The allotment in 1899 was $5,456.04, increasing available allowance to $11,462.18. Supplies have been drawn during the year, but I am unable to give the amount, as returns have not been received from the Navy Department, but a substantial balance is on hand.

I desire to call your attention to the proper arming of the militia with modern small arms. This same condition has existed for a long time, and has been reported upon by me for years. While I do not advocate the purchase of these arms, as the general government should furnish them, and cannot sell them by law, I believe a most earnest effort should be made by our delegates in Congress to increase the allotment to States, and allow the exchange of obsolete arms issued by them for modern arms.

Strenuous efforts have been made by Your Excellency to procure from the government new and modern light artillery. In 1898 an appropriation was made by the Legislature of $51,000 for purchase from the government of three batteries. Promises were made to the military committee and yourself, and to me, that they could be made and supplied in three months from May 31, 1898. Notwithstanding your earnest efforts to procure these guns, and many applications made by me under your direction for information in regard to this artillery, the last information given at the ordnance office is that the new guns are still in the experimental stage, and that it will be one year before States can be considered.

In December, the Adjutant General, with Maj. L. N. Duchesny and Capt. S. D. Parker, representing the artillery service, visited Washington by Your Excellency's direction, and it is possible that three batteries of three two-tenths guns may be supplied until such time as the more modern guns are ready for issue.

The work of this department the past year has been more than during the war with Spain. Reorganizing and equipping the militia on its return from service, the completing of the records of the war, and many matters entailed by the war, have required the constant application of the clerks, who have carried on the work so well that the records are in good condition, for which they are entitled to commendation.

The work for the preservation of the records of the war of the rebellion has been carried on as far as time and appropriation have permitted. A further appropriation will be required. The amount appropriated for this work was $1,500. Of this amount, $717.75 has been expended.

From the appropriations by the Legislature to date for the preservation of the worn and tattered muster rolls of soldiers from Massachusetts in the civil war, the following-mentioned muster-out rolls have been completed, under the Emery process:—

Nine months, M. V. M.: The Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Forty-second, Forty-third, Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-third Regiments Infantry.

Massachusetts Volunteers (three years): First, Second, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth, Thirty-first, Thirty-second, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Regiments Infantry; First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth Regiments Cavalry; First, Second and Third Regiments and First Battalion Heavy Artillery; eighteen batteries of Light Artillery.

Massachusetts Volunteers (one year): First battalion Frontier Cavalry, Fourth Heavy Artillery, Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth Unattached Companies Heavy Artillery; Sixty-first and Sixty-second Infantry.

Massachusetts Militia (ninety and one hundred days): Thirty-three unattached companies, M. V. M.

Massachusetts Volunteer Militia (one year): Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Forty-second and Sixtieth Regiments.

In addition, the individual rolls of the bands and veteran reserve corps have been completed.

The Emery process, under which these rolls have been treated for preservation, consists of mounting the roll on strong tissue silk, and covering the face with transparent paper parafined to exclude the air, and binding in a substantial manner.

Thus far attention has been given to the muster-out rolls, for the reason that they have been referred to and handled so much during the time which has elapsed since the close of the war, and the paper on which they were written is so poor, it became a necessity to put them in condition before they had gone beyond recovery. The work has been performed in a satisfactory manner.

There still remains the muster-in rolls, monthly reports and other papers which require attention, and which are as essential, and should be cared for in the same manner, for the best interests of the soldier that rendered service, and of the Commonwealth, the custodian of the records.

REWRITING OF WAR RECORDS.

Six regiments, one battery and thirty-three companies unattached have been rewritten and bound in book form, containing 9,155 names. Of these, 2,297 have been connected with other services, and 944 records corrected.

The work of revising and indexing the war records has been continued. The amount appropriated was $2,500. Of this amount, there has been expended the sum of $2,400.

There have been issued on account of the civil war 3,450 certificates of service, 132 letters from the department at Washington, D. C., correcting the records. Cards have been completed of about 250 men and their record closed as complete. On account of Spanish war, 1,031 service certificates have been issued, including 50 of the naval service; 96 letters sent to the department at Washington, and answers recorded and filed.

Additions have been made to the Spanish war record index, and the records further completed.

NAVAL RECORDS.

The work on the records of Massachusetts sailors and marines of the civil war has been continued. Amount appropriated for this work was $2,000. Of this amount, there has been expended $1,975.85.

The records of officers, sailors and marines have progressed favorably. Two officers and 47 enlisted men were added to the lists, residents of Massachusetts enlisting on other stations. The demands on the office during the war with the Kingdom of Spain increased the duties of recording two-fold; 1,200 men have been indexed with a complete record.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I had hoped that during the past year the matter of a national militia would be considered by Congress, and a law passed making such a force in each State uniform in its organization and equipment, and under the direct control of the War Department, with such supervision by States as was deemed advisable. This matter was not considered. The present Congress has a bill before it, which provides for a national guard law, and such provisions as will place the militia in organization and equipment exactly like the regular army. When the bill becomes a law, I recommend the militia conform to it.

The militia is now without a full-dress uniform, which should receive consideration. The introduction of a summer or khaki uniform, including the helmet, should receive consideration. It is more economical, and better suited for camp work. The present fatigue uniform could be worn when the weather required it, and dress uniforms for ceremonies.

Advance copies of the regulations have been printed and sent out by the board of officers for correction and additions. The books will soon be ready to print regularly, and be issued to troops. An appropriation may be required for this. I would earnestly recommend that some provision be made to advance to paymasters who are under bonds seventy-five per cent. of the pay of troops for camp duty. The pay rolls are not always correct, and the money in proportion could be advanced to companies in camp and the balance paid when pay rolls are completed. This would be a great benefit to companies, all of whom have camp bills to pay.

In closing this report, I desire to thank Your Excellency for your kind consideration and many courtesies extended to me during the last three years of your service as Governor. We are about to separate officially ; I hope not personally.

To the members of your staff I desire to express my full appreciation of their attention to duty during the three years, and especially during the war with Spain.

To my assistant, Col. W. C. Capelle, I am grateful for his earnest attention to the duties of the office.

I desire also to express to the clerks my appreciation for their loyal work.

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
INSPECTOR GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, Nov. 20, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the annual report of the Inspector General's department for the current year.

In compliance with General Orders No. 2, series of 1899, inspections of companies in their armories were held in the following organizations between February 15 and June 1, viz.: First Regiment Heavy Artillery, Second Regiment Infantry, Sixth Regiment Infantry, Ninth Regiment Infantry, Naval Brigade.

Special orders directed Maj. W. H. Goff, A. I. G. staff Second Brigade, and Maj. F. S. Richardson, A. I. G. staff First Brigade, to report to the Inspector General for assignment to duty in connection with the above-mentioned inspections.

The following assignments for inspections were made:—

The Inspector General: Batteries A and C, First Heavy Artillery; companies C, E and L, Sixth Infantry; Company I, Naval Brigade.

Col. F. W. Wellington: companies A, C, E, F, G and H, Second Infantry; Company K, Sixth Infantry; companies G and K, Ninth Infantry.

Col. Gordon Dexter: batteries B and K, First Heavy Artillery; Company I, Sixth Infantry; companies F and L, Naval Brigade.

Col. F. L. Locke: batteries G, I and L, First Heavy Artillery; companies A, B and H, Sixth Infantry; Company F, Ninth Infantry; Company K, Naval Brigade.

Col. J. T. Soutter: companies D, F and G, Sixth Infantry; companies C and H, Ninth Infantry; companies G, H and M, Naval Brigade.

Col. J. A. Frye: companies A, D, I and M, Ninth Infantry; companies A, B, C, D and E, Naval Brigade.

Maj. W. H. Goff: batteries D, E, F, H and M, First Heavy Artillery; Company M, Sixth Infantry.

Maj. F. S. Richardson: companies B, D, I, K, L and M, Second Infantry.

Col. R. H. Morgan, having been granted leave of absence, was not assigned.

The assignments were made territorially, as far as practicable, disregarding regimental formations, for the double purpose of saving the inspectors expense and fatigue of travel, and in the hope of more equitable comparative rating of the companies than was likely to be had by confining each of the inspectors to companies of a single regiment.

It was not deemed wise to conduct the inspections with much rigor; and it would have been unjust to do so, in view of the recent return of the troops from active service, with many of the men in impaired health and with the necessity of entire re-equipment, together with the fact that a considerable number of vacancies in commissioned and non-commissioned officers necessarily existed.

The inspectors were instructed to report the numbers present and absent, character of personnel, police of armories, general condition of administration and prospect of maintenance at the proper standard in the future; the object being to inform His Excellency of the condition of the personnel of those organizations which had reported for duty after volunteer service, and to assist brigade and regimental commanders as much as possible in reassembling their commands.

Reports of these inspections have been duly rendered. The fact was plainly revealed by them that the late war service had not in the least dampened the fine spirit of our militia; on the contrary, despite the unfavorable circumstances under which the troops were obliged to parade, they were found in a surprisingly strong condition. Some weak companies were found, but they were ones which were known to be weak before the war.

It is matter of just pride that the militia of this Commonwealth, after its splendid record in furnishing, with wonderful celerity, six fully equipped regiments to the United States Volunteers and over four hundred officers and men to the United States Navy from the Naval Brigade, was found so well restored in such a short time after their return.

The regular tours of camp duty and annual drill and the cruises of the naval brigade were attended by officers of this department, and have been reported upon.

The Inspector General has performed the duty required of him by section 87, chapter 367, Acts of 1893, in the inspection and condemnation of military property which had become unfit for use;

he has also specially inspected Company M, Naval Brigade, under instructions from the Adjutant General.

As prescribed by paragraph 1738 of the Regulations, the following suggestions for the improvement of the militia are respectfully submitted : —

I. Companies located in the smaller towns, where the number of men available for military service is not large enough to easily keep the ranks full of good material, or where general interest in the militia is lacking, are not only of little value to the service, but are often actually burdensome. It is recommended that during the coming year a thorough scrutiny be had of the degree of public interest there taken in the militia, with a view to the relocation of such companies as prove weak or unpromising.

II. A growing tendency to a lax observance of the regulations regarding uniforms is noted, and should be checked. The uniform is prescribed to the smallest detail by regulations and orders ; non-conformity is a breach of military discipline, an outward and visible sign of disobedience of orders, which commanding officers should not tolerate. Officers who in their own dress disregard the regulations set a bad example to the enlisted men. Greater attention should be paid to the fit and neatness of the clothing. The campaign hats, while perhaps the most comfortable and in some situations the most picturesque head coverings, are an abomination on the heads of militia soldiers, especially when transformed by the individual caprice of each wearer into an infinite variety of uncouth shapes. The ugly caps which the United States regulations have inflicted upon us are bad enough, but they are at least uniform in shape.

III. The sword manual for officers seems to be much neglected. At the annual drill the salutes by fully two-thirds of the officers while passing in review were ungraceful and awkward.

IV. The Naval Militia, with its exceptionally able and efficient officers and active enlisted men, has done everything which its line of duty has called for exceedingly well ; but there is need, in the opinion of this department, of more definite official relations between it and the United States Navy, lest the good results of the arduous work so freely given be lost. The Navy Department and the naval officers have been extremely generous in giving it assistance in all possible ways, and the Naval Brigade has shown its readiness to do its share by great zeal and energy. It is believed, however, that, notwithstanding the ability and zeal of the Naval Militia on the one hand and the interest of the Navy Department on the other, neither the State nor the United States obtains as good results as would be derived if the Naval Militia were given a definite and recognized place as a national naval reserve.

V. An absolute adherence to the rule of strict physical examination of recruits should be insisted upon. It is recommended that all mustering officers be prohibited from mustering in a recruit until he shows a certificate from a medical officer that he has been accepted. Recent inquiries by this department show that in the past year not over one-half of the recruits have been properly examined.

VI. Greater attention should be paid to the discipline, drill and uniform of bandsmen. The band, being one of the most conspicuous components of an organization on all occasions of ceremony, can do much to mar the general effect if badly drilled and shabbily or unharmoniously uniformed.

VII. Regimental guard posts should be supplied with guard report books. These may be obtained from the Adjutant General upon requisition by regimental commanders.

VIII. As suggested last year, company commanders in the two Cadet Corps should be required to do all of the duty required of such officers in all other organizations.

IX. The rank of regimental adjutants and quartermasters should be increased to captain, to correspond with the United States Army.

X. A riding school for the cavalry and light artillery is much needed. At least, an allowance of money should be made for instruction and practice in horsemanship, just as an allowance is made for instruction and practice in marksmanship.

To my fellow officers in this department all praise is due for thorough, self-sacrificing and soldierly devotion to duty. If our work has brought any good to the service, the credit is theirs.

I take the liberty of expressing, through you, to His Excellency the Governor my deep-felt gratitude for the many confidences which he has been pleased to repose in me and in the officers of this department, and to assure His Excellency that we shall feel richly rewarded if our performance of duty has received a measure of his kind approval.

Thanking you, sir, for numerous acts of kindness and good-will which have lightened our work,

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. L. CARTER,
Inspector General.

REPORT OF THE SURGEON GENERAL.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Dec. 30, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General, Massachusetts.

DEAR SIR: — I have the honor to forward to you my report to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief for the year 1899.

Respectfully yours,

ROBERT A. BLOOD,
Brigadier General and Surgeon General, Massachusetts.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
SURGEON GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Dec. 30, 1899.

SIR: — I herewith respectfully tender my report for the year 1899. The six regiments which served in the Spanish war of 1898 took a complete medical outfit into the volunteer service. Upon leaving the service, all of the medicines and medical supplies then in their hands were turned over to the government. This necessitated a refitting of those six regiments with medicines and medical supplies, such as tents, chests, both field and reserved, operating instruments, orderly pouches, etc. In fact, everything that is supplied to our regiments was purchased. The chests, tents, instruments and pouches were made to order. The tents, eight in number, each had a complete outfit, — four beds, four mattresses, blankets, sheets, etc. This required much time. Following will be found a list of the instruments, etc., purchased.

These duties, with the examination for military aid of soldiers who where in the old war, and those who served in the Spanish-American war, details and the like, were the duties which were performed up to the inspection of camps in the summer.

In April all the surgeons of the various commands who were not in the Spanish war were requested to forward their medical chests to this office, where they were overhauled, refitted and then returned, the same as last year. All the supplies which we carry in this office were put in working shape. The number of examinations for military aid during the year was 246.

A more or less careful inspection of the camps held during the summer was made ; that is, the First and Second Brigades, First and Second Corps of Cadets and the First Regiment Heavy Artillery.

The Second Brigade camp was held August 3 to 9, and inspected August 5. The sanitary condition of this camp as a whole was found to be good ; with the exception of the sinks, excellent. The sinks were not kept in as good condition as I could wish. This was in part due to the use of the camp by nearly 10,000 troops in 1898. The regimental hospitals were models in every way ; I never have seen better.

The First Brigade, whose camp was held later, August 19 to 25, was inspected August 21. As in the Second Brigade, the principal thing to be criticized was the condition in which I found the sinks ; they were in bad shape. With plenty of lime, copperas and earth, it was barely possible to keep them from being a nuisance ; but they required a good deal of looking after.

I would say here that in both the First and Second Brigade camps an improvement could be made in the cleanliness of the cook houses and in the personal cleanliness of some of the cooks.

In the inspection of the First Corps of Cadets I have but little criticism to make. The sanitary condition of their camp as a whole was first class. The only thing I should mention would possibly be their sinks, which might, I think, be improved. The condition of this camp was a credit to the corps.

The sanitary condition of the camp of the Second Corps of Cadets was found to be good. The water supply was apparently pure. The water comes from springs on the shore of the lake near the camp.

The inspection of the First Regiment of Heavy Artillery was made August 17. This is a splendid regiment. The hospital tent and tent equipage were found in good condition. The medical officers were doing their work in a most thorough manner, although the surgeon, Major Dearing, was suffering from rheumatism. There was but little sickness. This was a good camp.

Very little sickness was found in any of the camps. This I consider due to the excellent quality of the men composing our various commands, and to the intelligent care and forethought of the commanding officers and surgeons.

The details of the work done by the medical department on the mobilization of the Massachusetts militia October 14, when we had the honor of escorting Admiral Dewey, was left entirely in the hands of the medical directors, Colonels Marion and Devine. The work was thoroughly performed. A hospital, complete in every way, was established on the Common, where any one who needed surgical or medical assistance could be attended to at once. Two ambulance wagons were hired, one wagon following the First and one wagon the Second Brigade on their march. This was a good day for the medical department of the Massachusetts militia.

Blanks for the medical examination of recruits have been furnished to surgeons of the various commands in sufficient amount, the number being more than 15,000. Examinations of all recruits in the various commands have been going on during the year, and returns made to this office. This much-needed examination, when fully organized, will be a complete success.

The pay of the surgeons and assistant surgeons for this duty should be ample. It requires the surgeons at times to travel long distances, and be away from their homes and business for a day or more. I believe this service should receive suitable compensation, and, in my opinion, special duty pay is not a suitable compensation.

BOARD OF MEDICAL OFFICERS.

The Board of Medical Officers at present consists of Lieutenant Colonel Marion, president; Lieutenant Colonel Devine and Maj. Chas. C. Foster, recorder. The duties of this Board during the past year have been arduous, as all officers of the militia have had to undergo a careful physical examination. Number of meetings held, 28; number of officers examined, medical, 13; militia, 155. I believe this Board should receive at least per diem pay according to rank.

Very cordial relations exist between our department and the Regular Army and Navy. Colonel Alden, deputy surgeon general, U. S. A., and president of the Society of Military Surgeons, has always been very kind in assisting me in many ways with advice, etc.

AMBULANCE CORPS.

The Ambulance Corps had a detail of men at each brigade camp, and the whole corps turned out on the fall field day with full ranks. Their duties were performed in their usual excellent manner. The corps have continued the past year to do the work for which they were organized in a way which reflects honor upon the Massachusetts militia. As I stated in my report last year, I believe this command is unsurpassed by any similar organization, either in the Regular Army or in the militia of any State in the Union. It is an organization of which every member of the militia of the Commonwealth should be proud.

Our veterinary officers are doing, as in the past, splendid work. Their work is fully appreciated by this department. I feel very strongly that the two veterinary officers, Lieutenant Osgood and Lieutenant Peters, should be promoted to captains; and I am sure that every one who saw the veterinary hospitals at the First and Second Brigade camps (which is only a sample of the good work done by these officers) would agree with me. If there is anything better in the way of a field hospital for animals to be found, I am not aware of it. I certainly have never seen anything that surpassed it.

A school for medical officers of the Second Brigade was held in my office in November. Colonel Devine was authorized, at his own request, to hold this school. He took charge of this meeting, and gave out the subjects for papers. I think that all but two of the medical officers of the Second Brigade were present and read papers, and those who were unable to attend sent their papers to be read by the secretary. This was a very enjoyable and instructive meeting to me, and I think to all present. The papers were well received, and a good many of them showed care and thought in their preparation. I propose in the future to authorize more meetings of the same character.

DRAINAGE AND WATER SUPPLY AT CAMP FRAMINGHAM.

There has been much discussion among the surgeons in regard to the water supply at the camp at Framingham. That this supply is not quite up to the standard is evident. In 1897 I forwarded to the State Board of Health a sample of the water used at the camp, which was analyzed and the report was sent to this office. In 1899 I received another sample of the water from the lake that supplies the camp, which was sent to the Board of Health, analysis made and report forwarded as before. These reports, which will be found appended, with one of the Boston water, were satisfactory. The water as reported was judged to be good.

§ Iron filtered out.

After the troops of the First and Second Brigades had had their annual encampment, Colonel Marion, medical director of the First Brigade, requested an analysis of the water from the Board of Health, sending a sample to them. This report was nearly identical with the previous reports made in 1896 and 1897. I refer to Colonel Marion's and Colonel Devine's reports in regard to the water supply.

I myself believe, and should so recommend, that the pond from which the supply is now drawn should be protected from all pollution, or that the supply of water used at the camp, if found good, should come from the same source from which the town of Framingham receives its water. I believe this to be a matter of great importance, and as soon as practicable it should be attended to, — certainly before the next brigade camp.

Something should be done about the drainage from the cook houses; just what, I am not prepared to say, but a change should be made which will do away with all cause for complaint.

The facilities at Camp Framingham for bathing are inadequate. There should be at least twice the accommodations for bathing for each regiment. I believe this improvement to be essential for the best health of the men.

That the sinks at brigade camps should be repaired or made over goes without saying. Just what improvements are necessary, is not fully decided, but that this matter should be attended to early in the spring I believe to be absolutely necessary.

A word about food. I think perhaps the method of feeding our troops by company, each company having one cook or more, is the most practicable way of giving our soldiers, while in camps at home, suitable food. If the bill of fare is carefully looked after, and proper care used in selecting cooks (who I think should be a member of the company, and perhaps a non-commissioned officer), I am of opinion this will be the best method. More thought and more careful supervision by the commanding officers of this department and by the inspecting officers are necessary, if we are to have our soldiers while in camp receive the best possible supply of well-cooked food. Troops, to be efficient, should be well fed, and to be well fed is to have good arrangements for cooking, and good cooks, the cooks to be a part of the company. There is no reason why the Massachusetts militia shouldn't have the very best and most improved methods. There is more than enough money spent on our food supply to secure this. All it wants is a little more care and attention in the preparation. I shall hope to see in our next camps more cleanly cook houses and more trim and tidily dressed cooks, and perhaps a school for cooking and preparing food held in each company, where the art of cooking all kinds of rations supplied to our men may be taught. I am in favor of furnishing army rations, keeping a supply on hand as far as possible, and having each company make requisitions as required.

DISCIPLINE IN THE MEDICAL CORPS.

Every officer in the corps should feel it his duty to be neatly dressed, according to regulations, to carry himself with dignity, be prompt and faithful in his duty, and to deport himself in such a manner as to do honor to the State and to the corps to which he belongs. He should learn his duties thoroughly, carrying out every order to the minutest detail. Discipline in the medical corps I believe to be as essential to success as in any other department of our military body.

Medical officers should be very careful to handle property entrusted to their care with the strictest accountability. I am sorry to say that this has not always been the case. I hope in the future all officers connected with the medical department will feel it incumbent upon them to take every possible care for the protection of the property entrusted to their keeping, as they will be held strictly accountable for all such property.

The medical corps of the Massachusetts militia was never composed of men better equipped or of more experience or better qualified in every way to do the work, than at the present time. I am pleased to say that, although we have lost many of our surgeons of much experience by retirement and resignation and by several having entered into the volunteer service of the country, the corps is still remarkably efficient.

Lieut. Col. Wm. L. Richardson, after serving as surgeon of the First Corps of Cadets for more than twenty-three years, has felt it his duty to retire. Colonel Richardson's retirement is a great loss to the service. Any man holding the position of Surgeon General of the Commonwealth must feel the loss of such a high-toned officer and gentleman. To me the loss is a personal one, as I fully appreciated the worth of this officer's services, and I am very sorry that he felt it his duty to resign. We can ill afford to lose the services of such men.

Major Cogswell, surgeon of the Eight Regiment Massachusetts militia, entered the volunteer service and has gone to Manila. Major Cogswell made an enviable reputation during the Spanish war, at Chickamauga, Tenn., and Lexington, Ky. He was without solicitation offered the position of surgeon in the Forty-sixth Regiment of Volunteers by Surgeon General Sternberg, which I consider to be a great compliment.

I regret the retirement of H. Lincoln Chase, assistant surgeon of the Fifth Massachusetts. That Maj. J. E. Simpson, Second Corps of Cadets, should feel it his duty to resign, I regret very much. I regret very much also the resignations of Francis Magurn, Ninth Regiment, Frederic A. Washburn, Sixth Regiment, and Cornelius J. McGillicuddy, Ninth Regiment, Infantry. They were all excellent officers. Francis Magurn, Frederic A. Washburn and Cornelius J. McGillicuddy did good service during the Spanish war, in Cuba and Porto Rico. Frederic A. Washburn received flattering commendation from the corps surgeon while on duty in Porto Rico. This officer has gone to Manila as captain and assistant surgeon in the Twenty-sixth Regiment United States Volunteers.

Your Excellency, in closing this my fourth and last report which I shall have the honor to make to you, I desire again to thank you for your universal kindness to me. In the almost four years of service on your staff I have never received anything but the most kind and considerate treatment from you, and this when there must many times have been reason for dissatisfaction on your part at my poor showing; and I want to say to you that in all my intercourse with men I have never had to do with a gentleman who had so fully my profound respect. That I have had the honor to serve you and to be in any way connected with your administration has been, and always will be, to me a great satisfaction. I consider it the greatest honor of my life.

To General Dalton I desire again to express my appreciation of his kindness in many ways to me. I have said many times, and I still say, that I trust this State will long have the advantage of his services and of his splendid knowledge of the duties of Adjutant General.

I again most cordially thank Colonel Capelle for the many kind words and assistance rendered me during the past year.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I would recommend that every regiment of infantry have a surgeon and two assistant surgeons, and the artillery and cavalry battalion to have the same proportion of medical officers, the surgeon to rank as major and the assistant surgeons to rank as first lieutenants, and after five years of continuous service, the lieutenants to rank as captains.

I would also recommend that two additional veterinary surgeons be appointed, with the rank of first lieutenant.

I would also recommend that every company of infantry in the Massachusetts militia be empowered to enlist a good soldier as cook, and give him the rank of corporal.

REPORT OF MEDICAL OFFICERS.

BOSTON, Sept. 28, 1899.

To Brig. Gen. R. A. BLOOD, Surgeon General, M. V. M.

SIR:— I have the honor to submit my report on the tour of duty of the First Brigade, M. V. M., from Aug. 19 to 26, 1899, together with the sanitary conditions of the State camping grounds, and its water supply.

The grounds were clean, but dry and dusty; sinks in bad condition, not having been cleaned out after the Second Brigade encampment. Cook houses not as clean as they ought to be; the cutting boards over which food is served were not clean, cracks and corners filled with bits of food; cook house floors needed scrubbing. Grounds and road in rear of mess halls in poor condition. Water supply from Leonard's Pond same as has been used for several years. All buildings need repairing.

There was very little sickness, considering the weather and sanitary conditions. The sickness was mostly due to indiscretions and the lack of knowledge of camp life, all of which might have been corrected in a measure by proper care and attention on the part of officers and men to the simple rules of hygiene.

No accident of any kind happened during the encampment.

Washing of kitchen utensils under the faucets and in close proximity to the kitchen and provision storehouse renders the ground unwholesome, unsightly and dangerous, and should be corrected by having proper and sanitary conveniences.

Mattresses should be thoroughly aired and dried before putting away; better still, they should be fumigated.

The veterinary building is fitted up as a model hospital of its kind, and was always in excellent condition, with appliances and remedies for the treatment of any case that might come under the care and skill of Lieutenant Osgood, veterinary surgeon, who was always on the alert for the care and protection of the dumb animals.

The bath house building but partially fills the wants and needs, as the men can only take a tub bath. The building and tubs were kept clean, although continually in use. The pipe supplying the water runs along the lower part of the building simply to draw water to fill the tubs; this pipe should be placed at the top of the building, and so arranged as to serve for shower baths and to fill the tubs; this could be done at a small expense.

The sinks are in a deplorable condition, an eyesore and a menace to the sanitary conditions of a camp of instruction. The buildings are saturated with urine and odors, the vaults are crumbling and falling away, thereby leaving openings for their contents to trickle out into the ground, making a hotbed of germs. There can be no marked improvement with the sinks in their present condition. If they are to remain, they should be thoroughly repaired, or, better still, built new in a different location. They should be cleaned out after every encampment, and every night during the encampment, if deemed best for the health of the command.

The brigade hospital needs repairing and enlarging, so that all the medical property could be cared for in a proper manner. The Ambulance and Signal Corps should be farther away from the hospital; if, however, they are to remain in the same place, the sink for the Ambulance Corps should be placed farther away from the hospital, near the sink of the Signal Corps. Washing facilities for Ambulance and Signal Corps should be improved, so that the ground would not get muddy and look untidy.

The buildings need repairing, as many of them leak. The cook-house needs a thorough renovating; the range is worn out and is in an unsafe condition; there should be a new range, in order to get the best results in cooking, which is one of the prime factors in producing and keeping health.

There are two cases of meteorological instruments, neither of which is in good condition; consequently it is difficult to get a correct reading; they should be repaired and regulated. At the suggestion of Private H. L. Cummings of the Signal Corps, who made the observations during the encampment, I would recommend the addition of the following instruments to the present outfit: one weather vane and arrow to indicate direction of wind, one weather gauge to give velocity of wind, one exposed thermometer, one attached thermometer, one rain gauge rule and some new flags. There should be some new sheets for making out meteorological report, since the tour of camp duty is for seven days, the old sheets providing for only five days. I would recommend that a high fence be placed around a small lot, for the protection of meteorological instruments and observations during the encampment. I would suggest that two men of the Signal Corps be detailed to take charge of meteorological observations, and to make special study of this department, as it is an important branch in making up the school of instruction for the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia.

The water for use at the State camp grounds is taken from Leonard's Pond, situated about a fourth of a mile in a south-westerly direction from the camp, on about the same level, in sand and gravel soil. The water is clear and palatable, without odor or color. The pond, which is fed by springs and surface water, has no visible inlet or outlet, is about two miles in circumference, and for two-thirds of the distance round the pond on the north north-east and north-west sides there is an embankment about fifteen feet high, with a decided slope away from the pond. On the south and south-east side of the pond is an ice house, and a stable that accommodates twelve horses; this stable is not more than twenty-five feet from the shore, with the manure pit on the shore side; into this pit the men who have the care of the horses probably dump their excrement, as there is no other visible place; in this pit are kept pigs. I am told that when the manure gets hot and dry the hose is turned on, and the whole contents of the pit soaked, and as a result is leached and drained into the pond. Horses are led to the shore of the pond to drink. There are several houses in near proximity to the pond, say fifty to one hundred feet away; two of these houses use the old-fashioned privies, with bricked-up vaults, which are in poor condition. There is one small summer cottage with privy not more than ten feet from shore of pond; also one house with two cesspools situated about one to two hundred feet from pond. The sewer system of Framingham is accessible to all these houses; all other houses have entered the sewer. It is reported that people bathe in the pond; therefore they are very liable to leave human excrement on the shores, which during a rain might be washed into the pond and contaminate the water, if not render it dangerous for use. The people of Framingham are using the ice from this pond. The water for the camp grounds is taken from the northerly end of the pond, farthest removed from the source of contamination, through an iron pipe, the inlet of which is forty feet from the shore and thirteen feet below the surface of the water; the inlet of the pipe is surrounded by a fine wire strainer, and this surrounded by another stand-pipe perforated with small holes, the top of which is five feet below the surface of the water, which serves also as a strainer. The water is pumped by engine to stand-pipe, on hill in rear of butts; from this point it is distributed through iron pipe to various parts of the camp grounds. After the water has stood in the pipes it becomes discolored by the iron rust, which makes it turbid, very disagreeable and uninviting to use. So far as I can learn from people living in the vicinity of the pond, there has been no case of typhoid fever near the pond for many years, yet we know not how soon one may develop.

Sept. 11, 1899, accompanied by Mr. Johnson of the State Board of Health, we made a careful inspection of the water supply, taking samples for examination. His report is appended.

I want to compliment the Ambulance Corps as a whole for the efficient and intelligent work they perform in their special line of duty. Now that the company bearers as such have been done away with, I believe that the Ambulance Corps should be increased in numbers, so that a portion could be detailed as nurses and attendants to hospitals; they should have instruction in nursing and especially in cooking, in order to prepare delicacies for the sick, as well as a common diet. To secure the highest degree of efficiency there must be faithful work, strict discipline and harmony. In order to bring about this result, I believe that the whole corps should be under one roof, and subject to the constant observation of its commander.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I would first recommend that a complete and modern system of sewerage be adopted at the camp grounds, connecting with the sewer system of the town of Framingham; that the sinks be so constructed that they can be flushed with water at stated intervals through the day, washing everything into the sewer. If this is impossible, they should be carefully repaired and cleared out often.

The street in rear of cook houses should be straightened and macadamized; the ground from mess halls to the street, including the gutter, should be concreted. The cook houses should be raised six inches above the concrete, and rest on brick foundations at each corner, so that the whole, from mess hall to street, could be washed every morning, as well as the gutter of the street connecting with the sewer. If this is not possible, then place catch-basins at intervals along the gutter, and have these empty by a drain under the street which could extend to the valley below; this would prevent the ground about the cook houses from becoming muddy and filthy from debris, grease and other matter. Cook houses, provision storehouses and ice boxes should be so constructed that they could be washed out every morning by means of hose attached to stand-pipes near by. The boards on which food is cut and served over should be new every encampment, or planed after each encampment.

If the troops are to be fed by caterers, which I trust will not be the case, there should be provided sleeping quarters for the cooks and waiters. No person should be allowed to sleep in the store-house, cook houses or mess halls.

I would earnestly recommend that the State furnish rations to her troops, and that the men cook and serve them; it would be cheaper for the State and better for the men, as it would give them a knowledge of how to provide and care for themselves.

I would recommend that a pool be built for bathing purposes; that the water pipe in the bath house be placed at the top of the building, so that it would be possible to take a shower bath.

I would urge that the brigade hospital be repaired, and so altered as to better serve the needs of the militia; also that it be farther removed from the Ambulance Corps' quarters, on account of close proximity to sinks.

I would recommend that there be two assistant surgeons to each regiment, thus giving a medical officer to each battalion; this would greatly aid in examining recruits, and be of the utmost importance and benefit in case troops were detached by battalions.

I would urge that the medical equipment be the same as the United States army in every detail, so that our medical officers may become familiar with the paper work, and the manner of carrying it on; that the surgical and medical supplies be identical with the army, so that, if troops were called into the United States service, there would be no delay or confusion in doing the work of the United States army; furthermore, if there should be at any time a national encampment of State troops for instruction, in charge of regular army officers, we should be better prepared to do our duty according to United States regulations.

I have purposely left the most important subject of water supply to the last, in order that I might give it most careful consideration; and my recommendations are substantiated by the report of the State Board of Health, who has been kind enough to go with me over the grounds, carefully observing the condition of the source of the water supply (Leonard's Pond), taking specimens therefrom, and from other parts of the camp grounds for analysis, a report of which is appended. The water supply for a camp is the most important element, and should be pure, free from contamination, and guarded and protected with unflinching fidelity.

Assuming that the State owns Leonard's Pond, I would earnestly recommend that she purchase the land adjacent thereto, if possible, so that she could completely control the water supply; this would give the camp grounds an abundant supply of pure, wholesome water. In the purchase would necessarily be included the ice houses and stable situated on the shore of the pond; the stable in any event must be abolished; the ice houses could be used by the State, making a large ice plant from which to supply her troops while in camp. I presume it is the intent of the State eventually to ration her troops; in this event an ice plant would be of the greatest importance. If the State is unable to control the surroundings of the pond, then I would recommend that a filter bed be constructed, through which all the water might be filtered, caught in a basin below, then pumped to high service; this would give an absolutely pure water supply. The same engine that would be used to pump the water onto the filter bed could be used in pumping it to high service. If these suggestions cannot be carried out, then it may be deemed cheaper and more expedient to take water from some other source.

Enclosed you will find reports from the regimental and battalion surgeons of the brigade, all of whom bear testimony of the bad condition about the cook houses and sinks, and urge improvement.

Here let me thank the surgeons and assistant surgeons for the able and painstaking manner in which they performed their duty. To you, sir, let me tender my appreciation and thanks for the cheerful and generous manner in which you have always honored my requests.

Very respectfully,
Lieutenant Colonel and Medical Director, First Brigade, M. V. M.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
OFFICE OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH, STATE HOUSE,
BOSTON, Sept. 26, 1899.

TO OTIS H. MARION, Lieutenant Colonel, Medical Director, First Brigade, M. V. M., South Framingham, Mass.

SIR:—In accordance with your request of Sept. 9, 1899, for advice with reference to the quality of water used at the State camp ground at South Framingham, and as to the best method of improving the sanitary condition of the camp ground, the State Board of Health has caused the locality to be examined by one of its engineers, and samples of water from the source used to supply the camp grounds to be analyzed.

The results of the analyses show that the water is soft, nearly colorless, and does not contain an excessive amount of organic matter for a surface water, and, if unpolluted by sewage, the source would be a suitable one from which to take water for drinking and other uses at the camp ground; but an examination of the water-shed shows the presence of several buildings not far from the shore of the pond, from which it is probable that polluting matters, under present conditions, find their way at times into the pond. It appears, also, that considerable numbers of people resort to the pond for bathing in the summer season. Under these circumstances, the pond cannot be considered a safe source from which to take water directly for drinking, unless the pollution of the pond from the causes indicated can be prevented. It is probably feasible to prevent the pollution of the pond, but it might be more expensive to keep it free from pollution than to secure a suitable supply in some other way.

There are indications that an ample supply of ground water could be obtained by the construction of a well or filter-gallery near the shore of the pond, where the soil is coarse and porous, so far as can be judged from surface indications; and a good ground-water supply would be more satisfactory than a supply taken directly from the pond, even if the pollution were prevented.

It appears that the pipes of the Framingham Water Company are already laid to the vicinity of the camp grounds, and, if a satisfactory arrangement to supply the camp grounds can be made, it is probable that the best way of obtaining a suitable water supply for the grounds would be to take water from these works. If, however, it is deemed desirable to secure an independent supply, the Board would advise investigations, with a view to obtaining a supply of water from the ground in the vicinity of Leonard's Pond, your present source.

With regard to the sanitary condition of the camp, the investigations of the Board show that, if the vaults now in use receive sufficient care and if the contents are disinfected and removed at frequent intervals, the presence of these vaults need not be a nuisance or a menace to the health of the camp. The drainage from the cook houses, however, which is at present discharged upon the ground, creates a serious nuisance, and should be disposed of in some more suitable manner. It does not appear to be practicable to construct a sewer to convey this drainage to the Framingham sewerage system, and it is, of course, essential to keep it out of the small stream which flows near the camp; but the grounds are at such an elevation above the valley of the brook that it appears to be practicable to convey this drainage to some place in the valley of the brook and purify it upon land, and allow the effluent to discharge into the brook.

The Board would advise that you have a plan made for a general system of sewerage and sewage disposal for the camp; and when you have prepared such a plan the Board will, upon receipt of a request, give you further advice in this matter.

By order of the Board,

SAM'L W. ABBOTT,

Secretary.

BOSTON, MASS., Nov. 8, 1899.

Brig. Gen. R. A. BLOOD, Surgeon General, M. V. M.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the following report of the annual tour of fall duty of Oct. 14, 1899.

The entire State troops were mobilized in Boston to do their fall field day and to act as escort to Admiral George Dewey, the hero of Manila. The weather conditions, although pleasant, were too warm for the time of year and the bill of dress that was ordered for the troops, consequently quite a few men were overcome with heat and fatigue. The sanitary provisions were well cared for, tents being placed on side streets off Commonwealth Avenue, also on the Common along Charles Street mall. The march was about six miles long, and by easy stages. The head of the column moved promptly at 12 M., and arrived on the Common about 2.30 P.M. An ambulance for each brigade was provided, but the detail from the Ambulance Corps for the brigade did not appear, therefore the ambulance followed the brigade without any one in attendance.

Brigade hospital was established on the Common, which was of the utmost service, as it was soon filled. During the occupancy of the Common by the school children two were brought to the hospital, Ed. Spellman with hernia and Emma Tirrell from exhaustion. The following from the First Brigade were cared for, many having to be carried to the armory or station in ambulances after the exercises were over: Private T. H. Lee, Company C, First Regiment, exhaustion; Private R. T. Blanchard, Company A, First Regiment, exhaustion; Private A. L. Ryan, Company B, First Regiment, exhaustion; Corporal R. E. Ritterhouse, Second Corps Cadets, exhaustion; Private G. G. Staffell, Second Corps Cadets, exhaustion; Private W. G. Rockhard, Second Corps Cadets, exhaustion and sprain of knee; Private Sewell, Company C, First Regiment, exhaustion; Private G. H. Gorman, Company D, Sixth Regiment, exhaustion; Private P. Parker, Company M, Sixth Regiment, exhaustion and cramps; Private E. D. Ritterhouse, Second Corps Cadets, exhaustion. Among citizens cared for were: Miss Eva Prescott, city, faint; Miss Perkins, Somerville, faint; Lizzie Donovan, city, faint; and Geo. Marshall, city, exhaustion.

After disposing of the sick by discharging well or sending to their armories or stations, I called in the assistance of the Ambulance Corps, had the tents struck, and all hospital property loaded onto the State arsenal wagons, and dispatched for Framingham, at 5 o'clock P.M.

Only one accident occurred, that to Private J. P. Nichols of Troop F, who was thrown from his horse at the North Station, receiving a sprain of tendons of left knee, with effusion; he was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital.

From reports of regimental and battalion surgeons, which in some cases were delayed and had to be asked for, consequently delaying my report, I gather the following data: Second Regiment, three men fell out on account of heat; First Regiment, two men excused; Sixth Regiment, two men excused on account of exhaustion; Battery of Artillery, none; Troop F, one man sent to hospital, injury to knee.

Considering the day, the time, the number of troops and the concourse of people, everything went off with credit to the troops and honor to the State.

Very respectfully,

OTIS H. MARION,

Lieutenant Colonel and Medical Director.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, M.V. M.,
BOSTON, NOV. 2, 1899.

Brig. Gen. ROBERT A. BLOOD, Surgeon General, Massachusetts.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit to you the following report of medical department, Second Brigade, M. V. M., for the tour of duty performed Oct. 14, 1899. With your consent, hospitals for both brigades were established on Common. One assistant surgeon and twelve enlisted men were detailed from this brigade for duty at Second Brigade Hospital. During the day the following were admitted to our hospital: five enlisted men from Fifth Regiment Infantry, three enlisted men from Eighth Regiment Infantry, one commissioned officer and five enlisted men from Ninth Regiment Infantry. There was no serious illness or injury. The diagnosis in the majority of cases was "exhaustion." Those patients who were unable to return with their organizations were removed in ambulances to railroad stations or homes. Several civilians and a few school children suffering from minor ailments were treated. The weather was rather warm, but favorable for military duty. The idea of organizing a field hospital for fall field day is good, and on this occasion was a grand success.

Enclosed you will find reports from medical officers of Ninth Regiment Infantry and Battery A, Light Artillery. Those from Fifth and Eighth Regiments Infantry have been returned for corrections, and will be forwarded later. No report has been received from First Battalion Cavalry.

I also enclose copies of Special Orders No. 70 and Circular No. 3.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. DEVINE,
*Lieutenant Colonel and Medical Director,
Second Brigade, M. V. M.*

Brig. Gen. ROB'T A. BLOOD, Surgeon General, Massachusetts.

SIR:—I have the honor to recommend that some action be taken to improve water supply at camp grounds, South Framingham. It was my intention to urge this before another encampment, but at the recent school for medical officers the matter was discussed, and an improvement in water supply was so earnestly advocated by some medical officers that I think it should receive immediate attention. My views, expressed in my report of tour of duty for Aug. 3 to 9, 1899, are essentially as follows: "The water supply is apparently good, but it is only a question of time when it will become contaminated. The camp ground has been occupied by large bodies of troops in 1898, and is about to be used again, for recruiting for U. S. Volunteer service. Leonard's Pond, which supplies the water, is apt to be polluted by excreta, etc. I recommend the introduction of the town supply; this will ensure good drinking water, and will relieve the military authorities of great responsibility."

The fact that many officers and enlisted men of the volunteer militia have no confidence in the water, and that most of them prefer spring water and that obtained from wells in the vicinity, is some indication of its inferior quality. The chemical analysis of the water does not show a first-class condition.

Lieut. Austin Peters, veterinary surgeon, First Battalion Cavalry, in his paper, "Care of stables," read at school for medical officers, Second Brigade, M. V. M., December 7, said: "A horse appreciates pure drinking water above all other animals, and I have always noticed that when I leave the grounds at Framingham to go to the village, my horse seems to enjoy the water at the public drinking trough there. The swamp water pumped into the pipes on the Framingham camp grounds may be a very fine water from the stand-point of a chemical analysis, but the horses don't like it, and I doubt if most men do ; at least, the First Battalion of Cavalry has always bought Nobscot spring water for drinking purposes. As the grounds at Framingham are already laid with pipes, it seems to me that an effort should be made to have them connected with the town water pipes, and thus secure a better water. If this is done, I would also suggest that two or three faucets at different points be left running for a couple of days before each encampment, in order to carry off the iron rust that accumulates during months of disuse."

Maj. C. C. Foster, surgeon of the Fifth Regiment Infantry, in remarks on the subject at school for medical officers, Dec. 7, 1899, said: "I consider that up to and including the time of our last encampment the water was wholesome so far as infection with pathogenic bacteria is concerned. But the neighborhood is being rapidly built up ; there is more and more drainage of possibly infectious material into the water ; the pond is much resorted to for bathing ; and its shore is a loafing place for men and boys, who deposit more or less fæces there. Under these circumstances, the water might at any time become infected. Granting the safety of the water, it is not in other respects very desirable. It is warm ; it often has considerable vegetable growth and other sediment in it, giving it a disagreeable appearance and taste, and certainly not improving its wholesomeness. In spite of these drawbacks, I have myself always drunk this water, never buying Nobscot. I have done this chiefly on principle ; because I have had to defend the water in the interest of discipline against much complaint, which I felt had some foundation. I have always told complainers that the water, although not the coolest or clearest in the world, was perfectly wholesome ; and I had to practice what I preached. At the same time, I am by no means sure that it has not contributed to the diarrhœas which have been so prevalent at times. This water is perfectly good for bathing, and, used for this purpose, would greatly reduce the amount of water needed, which might be supplied to the kitchens only, and used solely for cooking and drinking."

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. DEVINE,
*Lieutenant Colonel and Medical Director,
Second Brigade, M. V. M.*

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, M. V. M.,

Brig. Gen. R. A. BLOOD, Surgeon General, Massachusetts.

SIR: — I have the honor to request your permission to form a school for medical officers of my brigade. Several medical officers of the Second Brigade are inexperienced, and I would like to start a little course of instruction for them. My idea is to have school conducted on same principle as former years. I think it would be just as well to have separate schools for the two brigades; then each medical director could arrange time and place best suited to his own officers. I would be much pleased to have you present, to give the officers a little talk. Would also invite Colonel Marion. If the affair is a success, and I have no doubt it will be, we could have a few meetings during the winter. If agreeable to you, I will make all arrangements, select date and place, assign subjects for papers, etc. Can mileage be allowed? Could meeting take place in Surgeon General's office? There will not be more than ten present.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. DEVINE,
*Lieutenant Colonel and Medical Director,
Second Brigade, M. V. M.*

REPORT OF THE JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL.

JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WORCESTER, MASS., Dec. 18, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General, State House, Boston.

GENERAL:—I have the honor to submit my report for the current year. Such matters as have been referred to me for examination I have duly reported upon, and my opinions are now on your files.

The year has been unusually free from any court martial cases sent to me for review. It seems as though an effect of the late war with Spain was to purify the militia from any such imperfections, and to leave the organizations filled with officers and men who have been inspired by a conscientious desire to do their duty and maintain the high honor that our volunteers won when our regiments went into the United States service.

Very respectfully,

ROCKWOOD HOAR,
Judge Advocate General.

BOARD OF MILITARY EXAMINERS.

BOARD OF MILITARY EXAMINERS,

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General of Massachusetts.

GENERAL:—I have the honor to submit the following report of the work of the Board of Military examiners from Jan. 1, 1899, to May 17, 1899, inclusive. The total number of officers appearing for examination was 85; number passed, 75; number rejected, 4. Two of the foregoing were rejected for physical disability. One officer appeared, but was not examined on account of an informality in his election. Five officers were ordered to reappear for further examination at a subsequent meeting of the Board; but as the Board, previous to the day set for their reappearance, was dissolved by an act of the Legislature of 1899, no action could be taken in their cases by this Board.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

THOS. R. MATHEWS,
Brigadier General, President of Board.

OFFICE OF EXAMINING BOARD FOR OFFICERS OF THE VOLUNTEER MILITIA,

Brig. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General.

SIR:—In pursuance of Special Orders No. 64, A. G. O., series of 1899, the Examining Board for Officers of the Volunteer Militia, consisting of Brig. Gen. W. A. Bancroft, Second Brigade, Col. E. P. Clark, Second Regiment Infantry, Capt. John W. Weeks, Naval Brigade, Lt. Col. T. F. Edmands, First Corps Cadets, Maj. L. M. Duchesney, First Battalion Light Artillery, Maj. W. A. Perrins, First Battalion Cavalry, and Capt. Chas. P. Nutter, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, held their first meeting on the twenty-ninth day of May, 1899, at the headquarters of the Second Brigade.

Brig. Gen. William A. Bancroft became president by seniority, and Capt. (now Maj.) Charles P. Nutter was elected recorder.

After organizing, the Board proceeded to consider chapter 381 of the Acts of 1899, and voted to ask for the opinion of the Attorney General on the questions which appear in the letter transmitted to the Board from his office, under date of June 24, 1899, a copy of which follows:—

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,
BOSTON, June 24, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of June 2 to the Attorney General submits a letter of Charles P. Nutter, secretary of the Military Examining Board, asking several questions as to the interpretation as to Stat. 1899, chapter 381.

First.—What is the meaning of the words “immediate command” in section 2?

Section 2 provides: “No member of said Board shall take part in the examination of any officer, or give any opinion, information or advice as to his fitness or competence, in case such officer has any business or family connection with him, or might, as a result of the examination, come under his immediate command.”

A junior officer to whom a senior officer gives his orders in the first instance is under the immediate command of the senior officer. Other junior officers who receive their orders from the senior officer through him are not under the immediate command of the senior officer, but under his immediate command.

To illustrate: a colonel is under the immediate command of a brigadier general; a captain is under the command of a brigadier general, but he is under the immediate command of the colonel.

Second.—Is Stat. 1897, chapter 488, section 15, still in force?

It is not. It is inconsistent with Stat. 1899, chapter 381, sections 5-7, and is, therefore, repealed by section 12.

Third.—Are oral questions for staff officers permitted?

Section 8 provides for the examination of staff officers, but does not specify whether the examination shall be in writing or oral. Section 9 provides for a written examination of other officers. Section 8 further provides that “any staff officer shall, at his request, be examined in the manner provided for other officers.”

I am of opinion, therefore, that, unless a staff officer requests to be examined in the manner provided for other officers, he may be examined orally by the Board.

Fourth.—This question in effect is whether a member of the Examining Board, who may be debarred from taking part in the examination of certain officers by section 2, can legally answer questions which other members of the Examining Board may put to him regarding such officers under that part of section 9 which provides that the Board may make such other inquiry as it may deem necessary relating to the officer ordered before it for examination.

I am of opinion that he cannot. The provisions in section 2 are sweeping, and exclude a member of the Board from taking any part in the examination of an officer, or giving any opinion, information or advice as to his fitness or competence, in case he has any business or family connection with such member, or might, as a result of such examination, come under his immediate command; and they are not modified by section 9.

Yours very truly,

A. W. DEGOOSH,
Assistant Attorney General.

From the organization of the Board on the twenty-ninth day of May, 1899, until the close of the year, the Board held 23 meetings for the purpose of preparing blanks, examination papers, and for the examination of officers. There were 157 officers examined by the Board; 138 were found competent and 19 were found incompetent, or more than 12 per cent. of officers examined were rejected as incompetent. Of the 19 declared as incompetent, 6 have appealed to the Commander-in-Chief for re-examination; the papers of 3 have been returned, appeal not allowed; while 3 remain to be acted upon.

During the seven months there have been received and filed by the Board 14 orders, 10 letters, 85 notices of commissions issued, 10 letters written and copies made, 48 pages of records, in addition to the preparation of nearly 200 examination papers.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WM. A. BANCROFT,

Brigadier General, President.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL OF RIFLE PRACTICE.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
INSPECTOR GENERAL OF RIFLE PRACTICE,
STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Dec. 31, 1899.

To the Adjutant General of Massachusetts.

SIR:—I have the honor herewith to submit the annual report on the work of the department of rifle practice, general staff of Massachusetts, for the year this day closing.

I. LEGISLATIVE AND ADMINISTRATIVE CHANGES.

Under the provisions of section 1, chapter 359, Acts of 1898, the rank of the Inspector General of Rifle Practice was reduced from brigadier general to colonel, while the office of Assistant Inspector General of Rifle Practice on the general staff, then vacant, was discontinued.

From April 22, 1898,—the date of the resignation of Brig. Gen. Curtis Guild, Jr., I.G.R.P., preparatory to his acceptance of a volunteer commission in the service of the United States,—until late in the current year, the department remained without a permanently appointed and commissioned chief. Col. Richard D. Sears, A.A.G., assigned on July 11, 1898, as acting I.G.R.P., was relieved on May 19, 1899, by the temporary detail on like duty of Col. James T. Soutter, A.I.G.; the latter officer, in turn, being relieved on July 8, 1899, on the appointment of the present chief of department. The records of the department would be incomplete did they not contain a fitting acknowledgment of the efficient conduct of its operations by Colonel Sears during the ten months of his tour as acting chief, while due mention should be made of the services of Colonel Soutter while under detail in a similar capacity.

With the opening of the coming year the department will find itself provided with suitable office accommodations, Room 108,

State House, having been set aside for this purpose by vote of the Honorable Council. Since its establishment, the lack of proper and permanent quarters has hampered this department in its work, and the coming relief from former unsatisfactory conditions should do much towards facilitating the transaction of its business.

II. ORDERS AND CIRCULARS.

The following orders and circulars, bearing upon the operations of the department, have been issued in the current series from the office of the Adjutant General:—

General Orders, No. 3, March 4, publishing regulations governing the range work of the year; Special Orders, No. 58, May 19, relieving Col. R. D. Sears, A.A.G., acting I.G.R.P., by the detail of Col. J. T. Soutter, A.I.G., on like duty; General Orders, No. 8, July 8, relieving Col. J. T. Soutter, A.I.G., from the above detail by the appointment of Col. J. A. Frye, I.G.R.P.; General Orders, No. 11, September 1, revoking certain provisions of General Orders, No. 3, and publishing amended regulations for small-arms qualifications, together with conditions governing competitions; Circular, September 2, publishing target assignments for troops conducting practice at Walnut Hill range; General Orders, No. 17, October 18, publishing final regulations and special duty details for the State general competition; Special Orders, No. 152, November 8, relating to the disposition of marksmanship decorations due to officers and men late of Company B (disbanded), Eighth Infantry.

III. ABNORMAL SERVICE CONDITIONS.

At the opening of the present year the First Heavy Artillery, Second Infantry, Ninth Infantry and the larger portion of the Naval Brigade had but just returned from the service of the United States to that of the Commonwealth, while the Sixth Infantry was mustered out on January 21, the Fifth Infantry on March 31 and the Eighth Infantry not until April 28. In all these commands the officers found their energies taxed to the utmost by the solution of problems arising in the process of readjustment to the conditions of the peace establishment, of which perhaps the most pressing was that of recruiting, to fill vacancies in the ranks caused by the operation of the law making optional, in the cases of enlisted men discharged from the volunteer service, the completion of unexpired terms of militia enlistment. Furthermore, much time necessarily was consumed by the staff departments in the task of rearming and re-equipping the force.

In view of these facts, it became the policy of this department not to require from the officers of the line the customary efforts in the direction of range work. It was fully recognized that time must be granted for recovery from the inevitable reaction following a period of active service, and that many other essential matters must take precedence over even one so important as small-arms training. It was not until well into the month of September that it was found possible to commence systematic range work; and, as an additional handicap, the officers of the department and of the line were obliged to give their attention to the instruction of an inordinately large percentage of recruits.

Notwithstanding these adverse conditions, it now is a matter of record that the past year has shown unexpectedly gratifying results. Full recognition and credit for the conscientious effort on the part of the officers of the militia which has made possible these results is accorded by this department.

IV. SUMMARY OF RESULTS ATTAINED.

Exclusive of the hospital and signal services, the three field batteries and the six corps of musicians attached to headquarters of line regiments, — all of which, by orders, are exempt from the requirements of range practice, — the aggregate commissioned and enlisted strength in the service of the State at the close of the late season, for range work Dec. 31, 1899, was 5,512. Of this enrolment, no less than 71 per cent. (3,905) held ratings for small-arms efficiency, as indicated by the appended table: —

Original qualifications,	2,065
Efficients not requalifying,	568
Total marksmen of record (71 per cent.), . . .	3,905
Unqualified recruits (29 per cent.), . . .	1,607
Aggregate enrolment,	5,512

With this exhibit the department rests well content. Under ordinary conditions, a percentage of less than 90 would fall below the required standard of efficiency; but under conditions prevailing during the past season, the attainment of a percentage of 71 may well be taken as indicative of energetic attention to duty on the part alike of the officers and men of the militia.

V. VETERAN EFFICIENTS.

In making the annual return of range work, commanding officers were required to report the names of such marksmen of record as had been in the service of the United States during the late war with Spain, and were enrolled in the State service on Dec. 31, 1899. The complete returns on file in this office show an aggregate, under this classification, of 1,808 officers and enlisted men, — upwards of 33 per cent. of the present force, after the deduction of organizations exempted from small-arms practice.

With so large a proportion of veteran efficient still available as instructors, the work of bringing the militia up to the required standard should progress rapidly and with but little friction during the coming year. It argues strongly for the esprit de corps of the force that so many enlisted men, after the hardships of active campaigning in the tropics and the discomfort and monotony of camp and garrison duty, yet have elected to remain with the colors of their old commands.

VI. THE "U. S. V." MARKSMANSHIP MEDAL.

The department has completed the issue of the special bronze medal authorized by the circular of Nov. 26, 1898, A. G. O. This decoration under the conditions prescribed for its award, could be issued only to such officers and men as had recorded original qualifications, or had requalified in the highest class previously attained, during the range season of 1897, and subsequently had entered the service of the United States. Many marksmen of record were debarred from receiving the medal by the operation of the clause relating to requalifications. For this reason, as well as for others which will readily suggest themselves, the record showing the final distribution of the decoration indicates but approximately the actual number of trained marksmen furnished by the militia of Massachusetts for the service of the United States. These medals were issued to commands called into active service, as indicated below : —

First Heavy Artillery,	400
Second Infantry,	307
Fifth Infantry,	261
Sixth Infantry,	342
Eighth Infantry,	307
Ninth Infantry,	275
Naval Brigade,	227

While due to the best of motives, the issue of this decoration yet has proved to be an unfortunate step. This is for the reason that it is persistently regarded by the militia as a service, and not as a marksmanship medal. The legend "United States Volunteers, 1898," on the face of the medal, seems to divert attention from the marksmanship class-designation inscribed on the bar from which it is pendent. Since it is the only medal authorized by the State which is indicative of war service, it would appear that there is some color of justice in the complaint made by those ineligible to receive it, — that discrimination is shown in its issue to such as were fortunate enough to comply, though unwittingly, with the prescribed requirements.

To remedy this apparent injustice, it is most earnestly recommended that a simple and dignified, though inexpensive, decoration be issued by the State to each officer and man who served honorably in the army, navy or volunteers, and was credited to the quota of Massachusetts, during the late war with Spain. At an approximate estimate, there might be 15,000 applications for decorations under these conditions. An appropriation of $7,500 by the Legislature of 1900 should amply meet the requirements under this recommendation.

VII. UNPAID BOUNTIES FOR 1898.

In the interval between the opening of the range season of 1898 and the mustering of the militia into the volunteer service there were recorded numerous qualifications and requalifications under the provisions of par. VI., General Orders, No. 1, A.G.O., Jan. 10, 1898, which stipulated, "an allowance of $1.50 will be made to each member of a company armed with the rifle or carbine who qualifies or requalifies during the range season, and remains in service with the company on October 31."

For the technically valid reason that the six line regiments and the Naval Brigade were not in the service of the Commonwealth at the date fixed in orders for the forwarding of annual returns of range practice, the cash allowances noted were not paid to these commands. Insomuch, however, as the companies thus deprived of their allowances had complied in good faith, and at no small expenditure of money and effort, with the first of the conditions above set forth, — failing to comply with the second and less important only through causes beyond their control, — it would seem that the Commonwealth well might pay the allowances to which they consider themselves entitled in equity. The unexpended balance of the appropriation for rifle practice in 1898 having long since reverted to the treasury, the department finds itself powerless to relieve this apparent hardship; but it earnestly commends to the Legislature favorable action on such properly certified and approved claims as may be brought to its attention.

VIII. QUALIFICATION REQUIREMENTS.

It was demonstrated by actual trial that the percentage system for the computation of qualifications (General Orders, No. 3, current series) was too complex for service application, and therefore (General Orders, No. 11, current series) a return was made to the system of specific scores which, with minor modifications, had been in operation since 1891. This system is not free from defects, and it may be doubted if scores recorded under its provisions afford an accurate indication of the actual firing efficiency of the troops. Existing conditions, however, compel its retention. With a more adequate fund at the disposal of the department, and with range accommodations on a proper scale, a system might be devised which would enable the officers of this department to test the efficiency of troops under conditions approximating those of the firing line.

Under the simple requirements of the present system, a company commander should find little difficulty in qualifying 90 per cent. of his command. This percentage will be expected by the department in the range work of 1900, and officers failing to attain it will be specifically mentioned in the report at the close of the year.

IX. HONORABLE MENTION.

In view of the abnormal conditions of the past year, to which reference elsewhere has been made, especial credit is due to the following commanding officers for returning as qualified marksmen, at the close of the range season, every officer and man of their maximum legal enrolments: —

Capt. W. S. Warriner, Company K, Second Infantry; station, Springfield. Capt. G. J. Crosier, Company M, Second Infantry; station, Adams. Lieut. G. R. H. Buffinton, Sixth (F) Division, Naval Brigade; station, Fall River.

Credit is due to the following officers for returning as qualified marksmen every officer and man of their commands, though without regard to the legal maximum enrolment: —

* No specific legal enrolment.

Mention is made of the following commanding officers for returning as qualified marksmen 90 per cent. and upwards of the enrolment of their respective commands at the close of the range season : —

Capt. D. Fuller, Battery M, First Heavy Artillery; station, Fall River. Capt. P. L. Rider, Company C, Second Infantry; station, Springfield. Capt. F. E. Pierce, Company L, Second Infantry; station, Greenfield. Capt. F. E. Gray, Company A, Sixth Infantry; station, Wakefield. Capt. T. Livingstone, Company C, Sixth Infantry; station, Lowell. Capt. J. S. Hart, Company I, Sixth Infantry; station, Concord. Capt. J. F. Walsh, Company B, Ninth Infantry; station, Boston. Capt. J. E. Spencer, Company C,* Second Corps Cadets; station, Salem.

X. THE FIGURE OF MERIT.

The established method has been followed in the computation of the annual figure of merit, 5 points being credited for each qualification or requalification in the sharpshooter class, 4 points for each in the first class, 3 points for each in the second class, 2 for each in the third class and 1 for each officer or man firing two scores without meeting the qualification requirements. The rating of the several commands is determined by the ratio between the aggregate of points actually attained and the possible aggregate.

For causes already noted, the figure of merit for the year now closing falls far below the required standard. The First Corps of Cadets alone approaches a satisfactory percentage. The rank and efficiency rating respectively for foot troops and cavalry are shown by the appended tables : —

COMMAND.	Strength.	Possible Points.	Actual Points.	Efficiency Percentage.
1. First Corps Cadets,	271	1,355	800	59.0
2. Second Corps Cadets,	206	1,030	495	48.0
3. Second Infantry,	729	3,645	1,736	47.6
4. Sixth Infantry,	696	3,480	1,582	45.4
5. First Heavy Artillery,	700	3,500	1,358	38.8
6. Ninth Infantry,	698	3,490	1,321	37.8
7. Naval Brigade,	644	3,220	1,146	35.5
8. Fifth Infantry,	682	3,410	829	24.0
9. Eighth Infantry,	578	2,890	531	18.3
1. Troop F,	82	410	176	42.9
2. Troop D,	76	380	127	33.4
3. Troop A,	79	395	114	28.8

* No specific legal enrolment.

XI. MINIMUM RATING FOR EFFICIENCY.

In 1897, the last previous year of range practice under normal conditions, no less than 48 companies of foot troops and one troop of cavalry were able to record efficiency ratings of 60 per cent., and upwards, of the possible figure of merit. With a full understanding of the limitations, both of time and money, confronting commanding officers of the militia, the department yet has determined to fix this percentage as the minimum degree of efficiency to be required during the season of 1900. Officers responsible for any failure to attain this prescribed rating will be specifically mentioned in the report on the range work of the year.

That this requirement is not excessive should appear from a study of the appended model return for a full company of infantry, indicating the results which will be acceptable to the department:—

Sharpshooters, 7, each 5 points,	35
First Class, 14, each 4 points,	56
Second Class, 20, each 3 points,	60
Third Class, 20, each 2 points,	40

The possible figure of merit for the command shown in the above return is 305 points, while the efficiency rating attained is slightly over 62 per cent. With proper armory training in aiming and position drill, and with systematic and careful work upon the range, the indicated percentage should be secured without undue effort, and within the expenditure of the sum allowed by the department for qualification bounties. The proportion of sharpshooters and first-class marksmen as suggested is not excessive. One-third of each command, at a low estimate, should be capable of effective firing at the mid-ranges. Of the 5,512 combatants on the rolls at the close of the present season but 1,014, 18 per cent., hold ratings as distinguished marksmen, sharpshooters or first-class marksmen. The reasons for this unusual weakness have been noted; its recurrence in the coming year will not be tolerated.

XII. MARKSMANSHIP HONORS.

While the State general competition was instituted solely for the promotion of a wholesome interest in expert shooting through the development of teams of picked marksmen, there gradually has become apparent a tendency to regard success therein as carrying with it the marksmanship honors for the year. As a matter of fact, the success or failure of the teams competing in this contest affords no indication whatever of the actual firing efficiency of the commands which they represent. A case in point is that of the rifle competition of the present year, in which the "Tri-Color" was won by the team of the First Heavy Artillery, while the regiment as a whole was rated on its work for the year as fifth in efficiency; second place was won by the team of the Fifth Infantry, while this regiment ranked no higher than eighth in efficiency; and third place fell to the team of the First Corps of Cadets, the command which attained the highest percentage of efficiency recorded for the year, and had the distinction of leading the troops of the State.

Hereafter, the marksmanship honors for the year officially will be awarded to those commands, respectively of foot troops and cavalry, which attain the highest percentage of the possible figure of merit, — the computation of this percentage following the method indicated in par. X. of this report, — and the distinction will be recognized by the issue of suitable trophies. The award of these "efficiency trophies" will be announced in orders, together with the efficiency rating for the year of the entire force. It further will be understood that success in the State general competition implies simply the winning of the rifle or carbine team-firing championship for the season.

The department fully recognizes the fact that the method outlined for determining the efficiency rating of the force is at best but a crude one. Under existing limitations, however, it would appear to be the most satisfactory that can be devised. A searching test of fire efficiency would be that afforded by parading entire regiments and battalions, under orders and with pay, for record firing on the range, under direct supervision of the officers of the department.

XIII. MONEY AND AMMUNITION ALLOWANCES.

The usual allowance of $1.50 has been paid from the funds of the department for each qualification or requalification recorded during the year under the terms of General Orders, No. 11; while an issue of 500 rounds of service ball cartridge has been made to each battalion, regimental, and brigade headquarters, to be expended in practice by the officers and non-commissioned staff officers thereto attached.

While the department regrets its inability to increase the annual money allowance for qualifications, it does not consider the present rate as wholly inadequate. Under the comparatively easy requirements for qualification now in effect, the aggregate sum paid to a company qualifying its full enrolment should be sufficient to cover the cost of the ammunition expended. With proper armory training and careful range supervision on the part of officers and non-commissioned officers, the theoretical year's work suggested by the model return shown in par. XI. of this report should be accomplished with an expenditure of ammunition approximately as follows:—

Sharpshooters, 7, each 150 rounds,	1,050
First Class, 14, each 100 rounds,	1,400
Second Class, 20, each 80 rounds,	1,600
Third Class, 20, each 90 rounds,	1,800
Company expenditure for range season, . . .	5,850

With proper economy, and the use of reloaded ammunition, company commanders should be able to supply their commands at the rate of $15 per 1,000 rounds. Attention is called, in this connection, to the suggestions on page 309, Blunt's "Rifle and Carbine Firing." The aggregate allowance to a fully qualified company of infantry is $91.50, which should be ample for providing over 6,000 rounds for the practice of the year,—an average per man practically of 100 rounds. The excellent records kept by acting Ordnance Sergeant Strout, under the supervision of Lieutenant Hayes, I.R.P., First Corps of Cadets, show that the full enrolment of that command was returned as qualified or requalified during the season just closed, at an average expenditure per qualification of but 87.7 rounds.

It is recommended that light charges (55-60 grains of powder, 350-405 grains of lead) be issued for the practice of recruits, the full service charge being issued after their qualification in the third class. This will not only promote economy in the loading of ammunition, but also will tend to obviate the nervousness commonly shown by men in their earlier range practice.

XIV. EMERGENCY AMMUNITION RESERVE.

It is strongly recommended that 1,000 rounds of service ball cartridge be issued to the commanding officer of each company, foot battery, division and troop, to be held in readiness for possible emergencies,—and under seal,—until the close of the year, and then replaced by a like issue of fresh ammunition, the original consignment thereupon becoming available for expenditure in range practice. The reasons for this recommendation will readily suggest themselves ; its importance does not seem open to question. For this purpose an aggregate issue of 93,000 rounds would be required, which still would leave in store at the State arsenal a very considerable general reserve.

XV. THE STATE GENERAL COMPETITION.

The State general competition for 1899 was held at Walnut Hill range, Woburn, on October 24. This late date was fixed in order to afford every possible opportunity for team practice to such commands as recently had been mustered out of the volunteer service. In the competition for foot troops, the "Tri-Color," emblematic of the rifle team-firing championship for the year, was won by the team of the First Heavy Artillery, while a special trophy was awarded to the second team, that of the Fifth Infantry. While the shooting was necessarily less effective than that of the last regular competition in 1897, it yet is noted with satisfaction that four of the nine competing teams—the First Heavy Artillery, Fifth Infantry, First Corps of Cadets and Sixth Infantry, in the order named—attained over 80 per cent. of the possible aggregate score at the two ranges. In the cavalry competition, the "Guidon Trophy," emblematic of the carbine team-firing championship for the year, was won by the team of Troop D. The individual trophies for both rifle and carbine firing were won on scores of marked excellence.

The competition was carried through without the slightest friction, and though the corps rivalry was of the keenest, there was no manifestation of any unsportsmanlike spirit. Mention is made of the efficient services of Lieutenant Colonel Benyon, A.A.G., Major Edes, A.I.G.R.P., Major Brigham, A.I.G.R.P., and the other officers and enlisted men under detail for special duty in connection with the competition.

The cost of this annual competition, in pay, transportation and range expenses, approximates $1,000. The department considers this sum well spent, in view of the general interest in shooting aroused by the selection and training of the teams.

XVI. CORPS COMPETITIONS.

The annual battalion and regimental competitions for company teams were held at various dates prior to the close of the range season. For valid reasons the department considered it advisable to pay from its fund only the range expenses and transportation for these events. The holding of such competitions therefore was left optional with commanding officers. Competitions were ordered for the Second, Sixth and Ninth Infantry, the Naval Brigade and the First and Second Corps of Cadets. As had been anticipated, the shooting of the majority of the competing teams fell far below the customary standard.

These competitions are of unquestioned value when conducted in the proper spirit, since they not only tend to stimulate an interest in range work, but also afford opportunity for the practical testing of the shooting abilities of nearly 1,000 officers and men. Commanding officers with unanimity favor their continuance, and the department hopes that it may be able to comply with their desires in this respect in coming seasons. The only obstacle to be surmounted is that of the drain on the funds of the department caused by the pay and transportation for these matches, — an aggregate yearly charge of $4,000 or upwards. The present sum at the disposal of the department will not warrant the payment of so large a proportion for the expenses of corps competitions, unless other and fully as important interests are hampered.

XVII. OFFICERS IN TEAM COMPETITIONS.

During the past season the attention of the department unofficially has been called to a revival of the discussion on the advisability of permitting commissioned officers to fire on teams in competition with enlisted men. In order to correct any misapprehension as to the attitude of the department on this question, it should be stated that it most strongly endorses the practice. In taking this ground it follows the custom of the regular service, the firing regulations for which lay down the rule that “it is essential that the company officers should themselves become proficient, not only in the theoretical but in the practical details. . . . They should always attend target practice, firing with the men, and endeavoring to attain a position in advance of the company in proficiency with the rifle.” It furthermore is the practice in the regular army to detail the most proficient among the commissioned officers to compete against enlisted men for positions on the department, division and army teams.

The only argument against this practice is that the rifle or carbine is the arm of the enlisted man, and that the officer — in some way unexplained — infringes upon the rights of the rank and file by participating in rifle or carbine competitions. The department holds, on the other hand, that officers who prove themselves capable of better work at the range than the men whom they command thereby win increased respect and greater influence over their companies. The experience of years has shown that the really efficient commands are those in which the commissioned officers have demonstrated their ability to take the lead in marksmanship. It is an honor for any enlisted man to win a position on the team representing his command; that honor becomes enhanced in value when the position is won in competition with commissioned officers of long service and range experience.

XVIII. INTER-STATE COMPETITIONS.

The intermingling of volunteer troops from the various States during the late war period did much towards broadening the views of those who later returned to the militia service. It is probable that one result of this will be evident in increased interest in competitions between teams representing the regular and militia establishments. It will be recalled that the militia team from Massachusetts, under command of Col. H. T. Rockwell, then Inspector General of Rifle Practice, won both the "Inter-State" and "Hilton" trophies in the national competitions held at Creedmoor in 1886-89. These successes both added to the reputation of Massachusetts and stimulated greatly the interest of its militia in expert short and mid-range rifle practice. The department trusts that it will be found possible to order a representative team to Sea Girt, N. J., to compete for these trophies at the meeting of 1900.

XIX. DECORATIONS AND TROPHIES.

The badges and bars issued in recognition of the qualifications and requalifications recorded during the year have followed the types adopted in 1897. Framed military engravings, with suitable inscription plates, have been awarded to winning teams, while medals and cups have been awarded to individual prize winners. At the close of the year the "Tri-Color" and "Guidon" trophies will be turned over by the officers now holding them to the commanding officers respectively of the First Heavy Artillery and Troop D, First Cavalry.

It is possible that the department may find it advisable to make changes in the decorations to be issued during the coming range season. The types now in issue lack durability and are of unsatisfactory workmanship. Any changes decided upon will be in the direction of military simplicity. It is a question whether or not the issue of bars for requalification shall be continued. It may be found desirable to recognize requalifications by a suitable certificate.

XX. RANGE FACILITIES.

Early in the coming season full data covering the condition of the ranges provided for commands of the militia by the local authorities of cities and towns wherein such troops are stationed will be collected by the department, as a basis for subsequent action. A gradual improvement in this respect has been noted, but there still remain instances either of apathy or of absolute disregard of the statutes which require attention. Section 90, chapter 367, Acts of 1893, explicitly directs that "The mayor and aldermen of cities and selectmen of towns shall provide . . . suitable grounds or places for the parade, drill and target practice of the militia belonging to their respective cities and towns;" or, "failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall forfeit to the use of the Commonwealth a sum not exceeding five thousand dollars, to be recovered on the complaint of the attorney general in any court of competent jurisdiction." Since it is the duty of this department to require the enforcement of this statute, it will not hesitate to lodge information with the Attorney General in cases where its provisions may be disregarded.

The necessity for a safe and commodious State general range, so insistently urged by the successive chiefs of this department, yearly becomes more pressing. The elementary training of troops may be conducted satisfactorily at local ranges, but at present there exists no range within the limits of the Commonwealth on which the practical application of the principles thus taught may safely be attempted. If a suitable tract of rough country within easy marching distance of the State reservation at Framingham can be obtained, it should be acquired (by preference on long-term lease) for the training of troops during the period of the annual encampments in battle firing at silhouette targets, over broken ground and at unknown distances. The rental for such a tract should be inconsiderable, since its use would be required for but few days in the year, and its employment for a firing ground would not injure it for purposes of pasturage. Since no grading, markers' pits or bulkheads need be considered, the outlay for the equipment of the proposed firing ground would be comparatively small.

XXI. SMALL ARMS.

During the present year the infantry, heavy artillery and Naval Brigade have been rearmed with the latest model of the Springfield rifle, B.L., calibre .45, with Buffington rear sight and rod bayonet. These arms, the best at present obtainable from the ordnance department, are in excellent condition. The First Cavalry is armed with an early model of the Springfield carbine, B.L., calibre .45, with the crude "buckhorn" rear sight. Both troops of this command are heavily handicapped in their range work by the condition of their arms, and it is recommended that immediate attention be given by the proper department of the general staff to the relief of this hardship. Troop F, unattached cavalry, is armed with a late model of the above carbine, with Buffington rear sight. Its arms are in serviceable condition. The commissioned officers of the militia, with rare exceptions, are armed with the service .38 calibre Colt's revolver.

While it unfortunately is true that the rifle and carbine in issue in this State are of an obsolete type, this fact yet furnishes no justification for neglect of target practice. The principles of shooting remain the same, whatever the type of weapon employed. The trained marksman is in a position readily to adapt himself to the use of any firearm. It is to be hoped, however, that there may be no delay in securing legislation enabling this State to draw for its troops the Krag-Jorgenson rifle and carbine, calibre .30. The contention that this arm is unsuited for issue to militia cannot be maintained in the face of the conditions existing in Massachusetts. It is submitted that this State has but little to learn from the regular establishment in the use of small-arms; no more capable and intelligent men are to be found in any service than those in its ranks.

With all due regard to constitutional theories, it still remains the fact; as amply demonstrated in our latest war, that the militia of Massachusetts constitutes a very real reserve for the regular army of the United States. The mere change of designation involved in its muster into the volunteer service cannot alter its characteristics. If it is to become the effective reserve which its officers desire it to be, it should be armed and equipped in every respect like the regular establishment. Massachusetts has a right to demand a reform in the vicious system which, at Santiago, sent its splendid Second Infantry into the firing line with black powder and obsolete rifles. The Commonwealth spares neither time, money nor effort in the training of its troops; it is an insult to its loyalty to require them to retain arms which would be rejected by the ordnance officers of a South American republic.

XXII. RANGE ACCIDENTS.

The department is much gratified at being able to report that no casualties due to neglect or carelessness at the range have been brought to its attention during the present season. This is the more satisfactory because of the heavy percentage of recruits whose instruction has been necessary.

The orders for the coming year will require all firing details to be under immediate command of a commissioned or non-commissioned officer, who will be held to rigid accountability for any casualties occurring during the period of his tour. Carelessness in the use of arms will not be tolerated by the department. Any accidents due to this cause will be thoroughly investigated, and proper action will be taken in the cases of those responsible.

XXIII. APPROPRIATIONS.

Owing to the fact that range practice did not commence until late in the year, whereby the number of qualifications and requalifications was reduced, as well as to the further fact that no pay was drawn from the fund of the department for the officers and men on duty at the annual corps competitions, an unexpended balance of about $4,000 from the appropriation for the range work of the year reverts to the State treasury.

For the work of this department during the season of 1900 an allotment of $20,000 from the annual military appropriation will be required. This is conditional on the continuance of the custom which in the past has required the pay and transportation of officers and men performing ordered duty at competitions to be defrayed from the fund of the department. Should these items be paid from the amounts specifically set aside by the Legislature for "compensation of officers and men of the volunteer militia," and for "transportation of officers and men of the volunteer militia when on military duty," the customary appropriation of $15,000 should be sufficient, with careful management, to cover the operations of the department during the coming season. The successive chiefs of the department have held that the items for pay and transportation were not properly chargeable against the allotment for rifle practice; in this opinion the present chief concurs. If the appropriation for the coming year remains fixed at $15,000, and if from this amount the payment of the above noted items is expected, the department, though much against its inclinations, must abandon the customary corps competitions for company teams.

In this connection attention is called to the fact that the aggregate appropriation for 1899 directly chargeable to the expenses of the volunteer militia was $318,700, of which amount $15,000, or only 4.7 per cent., was placed at the disposal of this department for its work. Without further argument, it is submitted that the importance of this branch of military training entitles it to a higher percentage of the bounty of the Commonwealth. In this conviction the department is supported by the commanding officers of the militia, whose efforts to increase the service efficiency of their commands are unduly hampered by this ill-advised economy.

XXIV. SCOPE OF THE DEPARTMENT.

With the rearming of the field batteries with breech-loading guns of modern type, and with the probability that practice with service charges may be obtained both by them and by the heavy batteries of the State force during the coming season, it is recommended that there be added to the present duties of this department the inspection of field and coast artillery practice. This recommendation is based on the importance of inaugurating a systematic method, under the control of a central authority, for artillery firing, as well as on the necessity for a proper compilation and preservation of the records of such practice.

XXV. RECORDS AND STATISTICS.

Attention is called to the appendix to this report, containing the records and statistics of the work of the department during the year now closing. Commanding officers and inspectors of rifle practice will find the study of these records invaluable as an aid in planning the work for the coming year in their respective commands. Mention is made, in this connection, of the services of Sergt. George R. Russell, N. C. S., First Heavy Artillery, who for the past six years has been charged with the compilation of the annual statistics of the department.

Very respectfully,

JAMES A. FRYE,

Colonel, Inspector General of Rifle Practice.

RECORD OF MARKSMEN, M. V. M., 1899.

CLASSIFICATIONS AND ABBREVIATIONS.

DISTINGUISHED MARKSMAN CLASS (D. M.).

Distinguished marksmen are sharpshooters of record (1) who have been authorized to represent the State in rifle competitions, or (2) who may be mentioned in orders as the "first fifteen" of foot troops or the "first two" of mounted troops in a State general competition, or (3) who have won an individual trophy in a State match.

SHARPSHOOTERS CLASS (S. S.).

2 scores of 22 out of a possible 25, at 200 yards.

2 " of 23 " " 25, at 500 "

FIRST CLASS MARKSMAN CLASS (1ST CLASS).

2 scores of 21 out of a possible 25, at 200 yards.

SECOND CLASS MARKSMAN CLASS (2D CLASS).

THIRD CLASS MARKSMAN CLASS (3D CLASS).

2 scores of 15 out of a possible 25, at 200 yards.

In the case of a marksman requalifying in a lower class than that previously attained, the scores are recorded as actually made.

Names appearing without records in the column headed "Range Work, 1899," are those of marksmen who have failed to requalify in any class during the year.

The column headed "Service in U. S. Volunteers" has reference to the late war with Spain. The department has no records covering service in the civil war.

REPORT OF THE QUARTERMASTER GENERAL.

QUARTERMASTER GENERAL'S OFFICE,
BOSTON, Nov. 30, 1899.

To the Adjutant-General.

I most respectfully submit the report of this department for the year 1899.

The militia returned from the Spanish war, comprising six regiments, having been fully equipped in campaign uniform, including canteens and haversacks. Mess kits have been required for from the United States, and will probably be ready for issue early in the coming year.

The re-equipment was made under difficulties, as the property forwarded from the government, to take the place of that issued to United States volunteers, was not acceptable, it not being new, and was returned to the government. New had to be ordered manufactured, and issues were accordingly delayed.

A few supplies will be required for the coming year, but generally there is sufficient equipment, with the exception of blouses and trousers, for the year 1900. The camp equipage is new and in good condition.

All property in the State arsenal is in good condition and well cared for under the efficient supervision of the superintendent of the arsenal, Mr. Luke R. Landy.

The camp ground will require an appropriation to put it in good condition. Constant use of it during the war with Spain and occupancy this year by the Forty-sixth United States Volunteers will make considerable grading and seeding necessary. The United States Quartermaster stationed at the camp has been called upon to put the field back in the condition it was before occupancy by troops, and to repair all damage done to buildings.

Everything was done to aid in every way the Forty-sixth United States Volunteer Regiment. Loan of tents and cooking utensils was made before supply was received by them from the government.

Repairs necessary were made on the buildings prior to encampments of the militia, but some time will be required to reclaim the sod. Repairs to fences and gates will be necessary, and painting of same and buildings.

For details of property and issues of the same I refer you to the property account of this department, to be published in the Adjutant General's annual report.

The total appropriation of this department for the year was : Quartermaster's supplies, $22,000. Of this amount, there has been expended $21,995.05. For Quartermaster's incidentals, which includes all freights, cleaning of camp ground and other expenses incidental to the department, the sum of $5,000. Of this, there has been expended $4,683.33. For care of camp ground the appropriation amounted to $1,000. Of this amount, $1,000 has been expended.

All useless property has been condemned, and sales made, and the amounts received have been turned over to the State Treasurer.

In closing, I cannot help but express to you my keen appreciation of the very many valuable suggestions and the advice you so cheerfully have accorded me, giving me at all times the benefit of your long and efficient service as Quartermaster General of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and also wish to thank you for your never-failing cordial and courteous treatment of me at all times.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY E. CONVERSE,
Colonel and Assistant Quartermaster General, Acting Quartermaster General.

REPORTS OF COMMANDING OFFICERS.

BOSTON, MASS., Aug. 29, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General, State of Massachusetts.

GENERAL : — I have the honor to present the following report of the annual tour of camp duty of this brigade, at Framingham, August 19 to 25, inclusive.

In accordance with General Orders, No. 7, current series, A. G. O., I assumed command of the State camp ground on Friday, August 18, the entire staff being present. All organizations reported for duty Saturday, August 19, previous to 12 M., with the exception of the First Regiment Heavy Artillery, which had performed its State duty at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, August 12 to 18, inclusive.

The attendance during the tour of duty was very satisfactory, and was as follows : —

	Present.	Per Cent.
Brigadier General and Staff,	19	100.00
Second Regiment Infantry,	722	94.13
Sixth Regiment Infantry,	706	92.77
First Battalion Light Artillery,	192	95.52
Troop F, Cavalry,	106	100.00
Signal Corps,	25	100.00
Ambulance Corps,	22	84.62
	1,792	94.07

The weather conditions during the week were far from favorable. The heat was excessive, and, beside a few showers, the nights were foggy. This, however, did not interfere with the faithful performance of the regular routine of duty, which follows:—

The sanitary condition of the camp was not what it should be, owing in large degree to defective drainage in the rear of the cook houses. This can be remedied at small expense, and should receive attention before the next encampment. In this connection I would respectfully call your attention to the exhaustive report of Lieut. Col. Otis H. Marion, whose recommendations on this subject I desire to emphasize and endorse in the strongest manner.

Discipline, military courtesy, personal appearance and the care and arrangement of quarters were not entirely satisfactory, though a most commendable improvement was manifested during the week. Much, however, of the instruction which was the cause of the improvement can be, and should be, imparted in armories. Too much personal baggage and useless furnishings were noticed in tents of officers and men. Guard duty, as a rule, was only fairly well done. An increase in efficiency in this important duty is imperative, and can be easily secured if commanding officers will insist that their subordinates give to it the degree of attention that its importance demands.

A radical departure was made at this encampment relative to the admission of visitors. Friday, August 25, the day of the review, was designated as a general visiting day; during the balance of the week visitors were excluded. The result was eminently satisfactory to all, the time and attention of officers and men being devoted to the performance of military duty, rather than to the entertainment of friends and camp followers.

Sunday was the quietest day of the encampment. All drills were suspended, and the day given up to an inspection of the various organizations by the commanding officers and religious services under the regimental chaplains. The Young Men's Christian Association also held a special service in a large tent used by them throughout the week for social and religious purposes.

It was the earnest desire of the brigade commander to make the tour of duty as practical and instructive as camp conditions and surroundings would permit. In furtherance of this idea, the brigade was mobilized, August 22, for a day's tour of duty in the open country. Through the kindness and courtesy of Mr. N. I. Bowditch and Mr. R. F. Perkins (to whom the State is under great obligation), the privilege was accorded of manœuvring the brigade over their extensive farms, comprising some seven hundred acres. The manœuvres exemplified the advance through an enemy's country, the objective being an attack on a position occupied by his rear guard, strongly posted, with artillery and infantry, on a range of hills about four miles from the camp ground. The ground having been thoroughly inspected by all the commanding officers of the brigade, the field manœuvres were carried out in an intelligent manner. It was a practical tour of duty, and, in the opinion of the brigade commander, was conducted on true tactical and military principles.

Friday, August 25, was assigned as visitors' day. The regular morning schedule was carried out. The afternoon was given up to a review by the Commander-in-Chief, which was witnessed by an immense number of friends of the various organizations, and from a spectacular stand-point was a pronounced success.

Camp was broken Saturday, August 26, the various subdivisions marching at an early hour to the South Framingham station, where special trains were taken for home stations. The entire tour of duty was most instructive and successful.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

THOMAS R. MATHEWS,
Brigadier General.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST ARTILLERY, M. V. M.,
BOSTON, Aug. 31, 1899.

Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General of Massachusetts.

GENERAL: — I have the honor to submit the following report of the encampment of my command at the United States reservation at Clark's Point, New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 12 to 18 inclusive, 1899.

In compliance with Regimental General Orders, No. 11, batteries E, F, I and M reported at the reservation to Lieutenant Colonel Woodman at about 3.45 o'clock P.M. On Saturday, August 12, batteries A, C, D, G, K and L, band and field music, reported to the regimental adjutant at the South Armory, Boston, at 1.45 o'clock P.M., and on the same date, and under the command of Major Dyar, at once proceeded to the Park Square station, where, with batteries B and H, which had already reported to the regimental paymaster at the station, a special train was taken for New Bedford. The regimental commander, with his staff, accompanied this portion of the regiment. The embarkation of the eight batteries was accomplished without confusion, and the train was started exactly upon the moment scheduled, viz., 2.15 o'clock P.M. The reservation was reached about 4.15 P.M. With the exception of guard mounting, no drill or ceremony was performed.

Sunday was a day of rest for the entire command, guard mount in the morning and evening parade at 5.45 P.M. only being executed.

Monday morning the regular schedule, as laid down in Regimental General Orders, No. 11, was begun, and was faithfully carried out during the entire week, excepting that on Thursday afternoon the third drill period was omitted.

On Saturday morning, at 9.30, the regiment left the reservation, and after a short parade through the principal streets of New Bedford arrived at the railway station, and batteries E, F, I and M were dismissed. Headquarters, band and field music, and the Boston, Cambridge and Chelsea batteries, took special train, leaving promptly at 11.15 A.M. On arrival at Boston, batteries B and H were immediately dismissed, while Major Quinby assumed command of the Boston batteries, conducting them to the South Armory, where, after saluting the regimental colors, he dismissed them.

It would not be possible to over-estimate the value of this encampment to the regiment. For the first time free access was given to the rifles mounted on disappearing carriages, and opportunity offered for thorough instruction in their manipulation. Every possible moment was availed of for this work, and the results attained were most creditable and satisfactory. Infantry drill in battery and battalion movements was performed constantly, but for obvious reasons regimental and extended order drills were omitted.

The nature of the reservation made it necessary for a large guard to be maintained, and the experience gained in this most important duty was extremely valuable.

Discipline and military courtesy were most excellent.

A range for revolver practice was established, and many officers availed themselves of the opportunity presented. On two days details under Lieutenant Portal, regimental inspector rifle practice, visited the rifle range of Battery E, and some good scores were made; but, as this range was situated some seven miles from our encampment, more practice with the rifle was deemed inexpedient.

Instruction in signalling, both by torch and by flag, was given each day and evening, under the direction of Lieutenant E. D. Powers, regimental signal officer.

Each battery catered for itself. Some hired professional cooks, while others detailed enlisted men as cooks. In some cases all the cooking was done on the Buzzacott ovens, furnished by the State, but as a rule the batteries had purchased some form of range to supplement the Buzzacott. This system was very evidently much more satisfactory to the men than the old one of hiring one professional caterer for the entire regiment. The food was plain but substantial, and in most cases was based on the regular army ration. The average cost per diem of rationing the men ranged from 42 to 60 cents, including all expenses.

The camp was well policed, and at all times was very cleanly. The sinks were undesirable, and were with difficulty kept in condition. In the future, the trouble experienced this year will be anticipated and obviated.

A regimental canteen for the enlisted men was established, and conducted as closely as possible on the lines of the regular army post canteen. Everything was paid for by checks issued to the men through their battery commanders. Mineral waters, tonics, malt liquors, cigars and tobacco were on sale; spirituous liquors were prohibited. The men manifestly appreciated the advantages of the canteen, and at no time was an attempt made to abuse the privileges granted them.

On Wednesday, August 16, the city government of New Bedford came to the encampment, and the regiment was reviewed by His Honor Mayor Ashley.

On Thursday, August 17, His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Generals Dalton and Blood and Colonels Converse, Stevens and Morgan, honored the regiment with his presence and by reviewing the command.

The presence in camp, for three days, of Gen. Marcus P. Miller, was a source of great pleasure to all.

Lieut. F. E. Johnston, Seventh U. S. Artillery, having been detailed to supervise our work, spent the week as the guest of the regiment, and endeared himself to all with whom he came in contact by his ever-courteous manner and soldierly qualities.

The assignment of Col. James A. Frye, Assistant Inspector General, to inspect the regiment, was a most happy one and was extremely gratifying to both officers and men. To him the commanding officer is indebted for many valuable suggestions.

Enclosed you will please find General Orders No. 11, which includes the schedule of the drill periods, and General Orders No. 12, giving the routine of duty for each day.

I desire to make special mention of the important services of Capt. F. M. Whiting, who acted as ordnance officer during the tour of duty; and also of those of Maj. Howard S. Dearing, who, although suffering severe physical pain from an acute attack of sciatica, remained with the regiment throughout the week, and performed his duties in his usual conscientious and able way.

In conclusion, I beg to say, without fear of contradiction, that this tour of duty was the most successful ever performed by the regiment as a militia organization.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

CHARLES PFAFF,

Colonel.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, M. V. M.,
BOSTON, Aug. 12, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General.

SIR: — I have the honor to report that, in accordance with General Orders, No. 6, A. G. O., current series, dated May 27, 1899, and General Orders, No. 7, A. G. O., current series, dated July 1, 1899, the Second Brigade of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia performed its annual camp duty at the State camp ground near South Framingham, from August 3 to 9, inclusive, current. The camp was designated as camp at Framingham.

As required by the last portion of paragraph VI. of General Orders, No. 6, above cited, which provided that brigade commanders “will issue stringent orders relative to care of quarters and uniform arrangements of the same, and extra and useless baggage and boxes will not be allowed in quarters; and brigade orders will give the maximum of baggage to be allowed,” I directed, by paragraph VIII., General Orders, No. 4, current series, from these headquarters, dated July 10, 1899, that “quarters will be kept neatly, and their contents will be arranged uniformly. No baggage will be taken to camp by enlisted men except what can be carried upon their persons. Officers will limit themselves to what is reasonably necessary, and will take only what can fairly be described as field baggage. Company commanders are authorized, however, to allow a field desk for first sergeants, and in addition, in each tent, a box or chest for safe keeping, pails for ice, also camp stools and mattresses. Provision will also be made for cooking and eating utensils, as well as for lighting." Later, verbal authority was also given for the use of a gun rack in each tent of the enlisted men of the companies of infantry.

Paragraph XII. of General Orders, No. 6, above cited, also provided that "brigade commanders will make such rules as to passes for citizens as they may deem best for the interests of the service, and are hereby authorized to designate visiting days, if in their judgment it is best."

In accordance with this requirement, I directed, by paragraph VII. of said General Orders, No. 4, from these headquarters, that "visitors will not be allowed in quarters except upon special passes, of which only a limited number will be issued, and only from brigade headquarters, but the public will at all times be admitted to enclosures upon the field from which drills and ceremonies can be seen. On the day selected by the Commander-in-Chief, or his representative, to review the brigade, the public will be admitted to quarters after the review and until taps. The public will also be admitted to quarters on Sunday, August 6, on which day the chaplains will hold religious services. Guards will at all times, however, admit to quarters commissioned officers of the army, navy and militia, in uniform, and will also admit former commissioned officers of the army and navy whom they can identify as such."

By General Orders, No. 5, current series, from these headquarters, in camp at Framingham, dated August 3, reveille was fixed at 5.30 A.M. and taps at 9.15 P.M.

These several regulations, established in accordance with the orders of the Commander-in-Chief, were rigidly enforced, and, I am glad to report, in my judgment were productive of the most desirable results. The exclusion of all visitors, except a few relatives or friends of commissioned officers, officers of the army, navy and militia in uniform and former officers of the army and navy, kept the quarters of the enlisted men free from that interference with military work which has heretofore been a serious obstacle to progress in learning camp duty, drill and military discipline. Only 975 passes were issued, and of these 150 were supplied to the Adjutant General for the use of the higher officers of the State government and the staff of the Commander-in-Chief. Of course, only a small part of the passes were used on any given day. The designation of Sunday as visiting day gave an opportunity to many thousands — possibly as many as ten thousand — to visit the camp, where, with scarcely an exception, they conducted themselves decorously, as befitted the day. What disorder took place was infinitely less than has occurred in past years on a secular day. The services in the different commands were duly observed and were well attended.

The restriction imposed on Tuesday, the day of the review, also proved most advantageous; for, in place of the demoralization which has heretofore invariably resulted from the admission of visitors in large numbers to quarters during the forenoon and the early afternoon on the day of the review, there was no interference whatever with the routine of duty, and the troops were enabled to form promptly for the review, in a physical and mental condition fit to acquit themselves with credit.

The restriction in the amount of baggage not only brought about substantial uniformity in the arrangement of the tents of all arms and of all commands, but it prevented the introduction of many articles that are worse than useless, and which involve much labor in transporting them to camp, do much injury during the encampment and cause much labor at the end of the encampment in removing them; for, by restricting the amount of baggage to be carried by enlisted men to what could be carried upon their persons, there could be excluded with equal facility both roll-top desks and four-horse loads of ginger ale. For those who desired to drink something beside the pure water supplied by the Commonwealth on the camp ground, stores were authorized, at which, however, the sale of intoxicating liquor was absolutely prohibited. A store was established in every command except in the Eighth Infantry. I ascribe the good order which prevailed during the encampment very largely to the provision which restricted the amount of baggage.

The establishment of taps at 9.15 o'clock, instead of at 11 o'clock, which was formerly the hour in this brigade, not only enabled us to begin the day's work a quarter of an hour earlier, but it gave an opportunity for at least eight hours' sleep, and, indeed, nearly another half-hour of rest might be had by those who desired and were well trained to the purpose. Military duty is in effect athletic exercise. Other conditions being equal, he will make the best soldier who sleeps soundly for an adequate time. He must have, to be most efficient, suitable food and wholesome surroundings, which always involve suitable sanitary conditions; but nothing will make up for loss of sleep.

I was pleased to note the alacrity with which the entire brigade responded to the reveille by the full attendance at roll calls and by the alert condition of the men. The absence of the dull, the peevish and the slow-moving soldier was conspicuous, when compared with the presence of a large number of such in former years. The earlier hour of taps did not result in a failure to observe it strictly. Lights were extinguished promptly, and after the first night, when some men in the left battalion of the Ninth Regiment were somewhat noisy, there was no disorder of any kind worth recording. I am conscious that all these changes from the practices of former years may not have been acceptable to some of the officers and some enlisted men; but of their practical utility in increasing the efficiency of the troops I have heard no reasonable doubt expressed.

The weather during the entire encampment was comfortable; at no time was it exceedingly hot, and most of the time it was most desirable for camp duty. All the nights were cool, and the only drawback was the condition of the ground, which, from lack of rain and because of the trampling of the mounted troops, became quite dusty. At no time, however, was this unendurable, while on the day of the review the use of a watering cart ameliorated to some extent the unpleasant condition.

With the exception of the Eighth Regiment of Infantry, which reported some fifteen minutes late, all the commands reported at or before the hour fixed on August 3, and entered upon their duties as a whole with earnestness and intelligence. Details, who volunteered for the purpose, on August 2 pitched the tents of the Ninth Regiment of Infantry and of the mounted troops. A few tents of the Fifth and Eighth Regiments of Infantry were also pitched on this day, but the bulk of the tents in the Fifth and Eighth Regiments of Infantry were pitched after the arrival of these regiments on August 3. The work was done with despatch in most cases and in accordance with the plan laid out by the brigade engineer, tent floors having been placed in their proper places, under the direction of the superintendent of the State arsenal, in accordance with the brigade engineer's plans, by civilian employees of the State. The new tents supplied the troops (nine by nine feet), although two feet shorter than those formerly used, answered the purpose very well, and were issued in sufficient numbers to prevent crowding, twelve tents being allowed to the enlisted men of each company of infantry.

The commissary needs of the brigade were attended to in a variety of ways. Some, notably the cavalry organization, bought their rations, and upon issue it was cooked and served by enlisted men of the battalion. Others, some of the infantry companies, adopted a system of an officer's mess; namely, hired a steward, who purchased food and supervised its preparation and service, which was done with cooking utensils and table furniture owned by the companies. Others simply paid a caterer for furnishing food; he used his own cooking utensils and table furniture. While all lived well, so far as I am able to learn, the plan adopted by the cavalry battalion was of course by far the most economical.

The order of the camp was entrusted to an acting provost marshal; the provost marshal being absent on leave, the brigade engineer was detailed to perform the duties of the office. The provost marshal was instructed to perform also the duties of a brigade field officer of the day, so far as it was feasible, inasmuch as under the drill regulations no such office is provided; but the duties of the provost marshal were in effect those of his appropriate office. The provost guard consisted of both horses and foot troops, and, being under the permanent direction of one officer, who for the last four days of camp was assisted by another officer permanently detailed, proved to be most efficient. The ground outside the camps of the troops, both on the lands of the State and in the immediate neighborhood, was thoroughly patrolled. The enlisted men desiring to leave without pass were turned back into camp, and civilians without passes were prevented from entering, while the best of order was maintained. The resentment shown by many of the enlisted men because of the activity and efficiency of the provost guard I regard as a high compliment to the latter, although it leaves a stigma on the former. The cavalry detailed, being more conspicuous, received a larger share of this unmerited abuse, but they are deserving of the greater praise. Not a man, so far as I know, flinched; and I feel much indebted to the members of the squadron for the faithful performance of a disagreeable duty.

While the disposition of most men in the brigade, which numbered upwards of 2,100, was most admirable, there appeared an undercurrent of sulkiness, and even of insubordination, in the Eighth Regiment of Infantry. This manifested itself on the afternoon of the review by the misconduct of some men, who hissed the brigade commander when they were ordered by him to withdraw from the vicinity of an enclosure which was filled with spectators, although the order was obeyed. While the action of these men, I am satisfied, was regretted by the majority of the men of the regiment, still, their presence is a menace to the efficiency of the regiment, and every effort will be made to eliminate such an undesirable element from the command. In contrast to this exhibition of unsoldierly conduct were the general good feeling and loyal spirit shown by the rest of the brigade, including, I am glad to say, the other members of this regiment. I have never witnessed more earnest efforts to learn and perform the duty of a soldier.

The routine of duties was most satisfactorily performed. Officers and men responded promptly; reveille and other roll calls were conducted properly; setting up exercises were not shirked; grounds were carefully policed; men were prompt at meal calls; companies were marched quietly to the mess halls; inspection of quarters was carefully attended to; formations were prompt: drills were not shirked, and were intelligently carried on; ceremony of lowering the colors at retreat was conducted impressively, and observed by all members of the brigade within sight and hearing; and taps were scrupulously obeyed.

A daily review was held, both for the purpose of practising the troops in brigade formation and as a spectacle to such spectators as chose to visit the camp. The result was most satisfactory. On the day of the review by the Acting Commander-in-Chief the brigade acquitted itself creditably, and upon the alarm the three regiments of infantry formed in line of masses in less than two minutes. It would be difficult to conceive of greater celerity in formation. All the officers of my staff, with the exception of the Adjutant General and the medical director of the brigade, were assigned special duties in addition to their ordinary ones; among other things, a thorough observation of each command was made. An officer was detailed to supervise guard duty, while the medical director was especially charged with the sanitation of the camp. All performed their duties in a most satisfactory manner, and I do not care to discriminate in my commendation, where all deserve it, and where each worked zealously according to his knowledge, experience and ability.

On Monday substantially all of the mounted officers of the brigade accompanied the brigade commander in studying the topography in the vicinity of the camp, with reference to the disposition of the troops for a possible defence thereof; and later the entire brigade was disposed accordingly. Much intelligence was shown during the day by the officers of the brigade, both in selecting positions and in handling their troops. I feel, however, that the work of the cavalry battalion under the direction of Major Perrins and of the battery of light artillery under the direction of Captain Parker was especially commendable. The excellence of the mounted arms of the brigade, indeed, was so marked this year that I deemed it expedient to call their camps to the attention of all the infantry officers, and by my direction they visited both of these camps and observed them carefully. Both these camps were models of military neatness and suitability, and were indeed object lessons to those who desired to become good soldiers.

The cavalry battalion rode to and from camp over the road, bringing all its baggage either on their horses or in four baggage wagons. The battery, having at its own charge supplied itself with a most suitable battery wagon, also proceeded to camp over the wagon roads, but was returned by railroad from South Framingham, for the purpose of gaining experience in transporting and unloading the battery by rail.

On Saturday, August 5, the battery was given leave to make a practice march, and to engage in placing their guns in positions advantageously and in firing blank cartridges. The battery returned to camp in good shape at the supper hour.

The brigade was reviewed on Tuesday by the Acting Commander-in-Chief, His Honor Lieutenant Governor W. Murray Crane, who expressed himself much pleased with the appearance of the troops. Later, His Honor, accompanied by the staff of His Excellency and by other gentlemen, was driven through the camps of the troops, and the several commanding officers and their staffs were presented to him by the brigade commander.

During the first three days of camp the Signal Corps built a telephone line connecting brigade headquarters with the different organizations and with the brigade hospital. The material therefor was either bought or hired at small expense, and the work was enthusiastically performed by the corps.

The Ambulance Corps, as usual, did good work, although there was very little need of its services, as the health of the troops was good. How far the provision restricting baggage affected this I am not able to say, but I feel confident that it contributed in no small degree.

A tent of the Young Men's Christian Association was pitched, and the usual accommodation and supply, which were so well received in the army of the United States during the Spanish war, was afforded. I commend most highly the arrangement, and trust that it may be continued. Every facility was afforded those engaged in the work to carry it on.

The attendance in all the commands, except in the Eighth Infantry, was good. The small attendance in the Eighth Infantry I ascribe, first, to the recent release of a large number of the members of this regiment from the United States service; and, secondly, to the reluctance of many, if not most, officers and men to attend camp, coupled with the expectation that they would not be required to perform camp duty this year. When it was determined that the duty must be performed, it was too late to get a larger attendance. The morning reports show small numbers in several companies, and the company recruited in Amesbury was not represented by a single enlisted man, while its only commissioned officer was too ill to attend. I recommend that this company be recruited at once, preferably, I think, in some other community, for I believe that in Amesbury there is either an insufficient population or a lack of public spirit of the kind needed to maintain an efficient militia company.

The smartness in drill and intelligence in the performance of duties of the infantry were due in a large measure to the service of most of the officers and a large number of the enlisted men in the United States Volunteers. It was rumored before the encampment that some of the volunteers would not be able to endure the exposure of camp life; so, as a precaution, and to ameliorate the conditions to some extent, there were no drills for the infantry between 10 A.M. and 3.30 P.M. This enabled the men to escape active exertion in the heat of the day, but I did not observe that they did, preferring to engage in baseball, "blanket tossing," etc., rather than to rest. From this I inferred that the exposure of camp life was not hurting them. While athletic sports among the troops are to be encouraged, I was not convinced that the practice of "blanket tossing" should be continued. To say nothing of the possible injury to the persons "tossed," the proceeding tends to disorder. Such practices were stopped in the militia years ago. If, as it is said, they are allowed in the army, I am sure that they are not universally allowed, for I saw nothing of the kind in the Seventh Army Corps, and I should certainly have stopped it in the brigade which I commanded.

I was much impressed during this encampment with the opportunity that there is to establish in the militia an engineering corps upon substantially the same footing as are the signal and ambulance corps. I believe that there are a large number of engineers in the community whose services could be made extremely useful.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. The extension of the tour of duty from five days to seven proved a most advantageous one, but I am of the opinion that the camp duty ought to be made eight instead of seven days. This would be a great advantage, by enabling the brigade to go into camp on one Saturday and come out the following Saturday.

2. I recommend that all proper steps be taken to hasten the equipment of the light battery with breech loading rifles.

3. That some suitable provision be made for drainage in the rear of the camp.

4. That at the earliest practicable moment the troops be equipped fully, so as to be ready for field or other active duty.

5. That provision be made for instruction in mounted drill during the fall, winter and spring months.

6. That the Signal Corps be suitably equipped, and that provision be made for the enlistment of electricians.

7. That an engineer corps be established.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WM. A. BANCROFT,
Brigadier General, Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION CAVALRY, SECOND BRIGADE, M. V. M.,
BOSTON, Feb. 21, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General of Massachusetts.

GENERAL: — I have the honor to submit the following report of the tour of duty performed by this command, as escort to the President of the United States, Feb. 16 and 17, 1899: —

Pursuant to Special Orders No. 18, current series, A. G. O., the command reported, mounted, at 9 A.M., February 16, at Irvington Street. Troops paraded in fatigue uniform, fatigue caps, overcoats, boots, spurs and gauntlets. Sabres only were carried, attached to the saddle. Horse blankets were carried, strapped to the cantle of saddle.

The strength of the command was: field and staff, 7 officers, 5 men and 4 extra buglers; Troop A, 3 officers and 68 men; Troop D, 3 officers and 56 men; total strength, 13 officers and 133 men.

The following detail, as flankers for the presidential party, were detailed to report to Col. Gordon Dexter at the terminal station immediately on the arrival of the battalion: Troop A, 1 lieutenant, 1 corporal and 10 men; Troop D, 1 sergeant, 1 corporal and 10 men. One guidon sergeant was detailed from the battalion staff as color bearer, to report to the Adjutant General at the State House at 9.15 A.M.

At 9.20 the line of march was taken up, through Huntington Avenue, Boylston Street, Tremont, Winter and Summer streets to the terminal station, Summer Street. On arrival, the command was marched into the station by the Dorchester Avenue entrance, and battalion line was formed at 9.45 in the midway, fronting the track on which the presidential train was to arrive.

Promptly at 9.55 the train arrived, and, on arrival of the President of the United States in front of the battalion, the order to present sabres was given, and the command remained at present until the carriages, flanked by the out-riders, had been brought up, and the presidential party seated. The line of march was then taken up, the battalion in advance, over the following route: Summer, Winter, Tremont, Park, Beacon, Charles and Boylston streets, to the Hotel Touraine, where the battalion was again formed in line and a salute given as the President and party alighted at the Tremont Street entrance. The battalion then marched to the Irvington Street armory, where the troops were mustered for pay by Lieutenant Hall, paymaster, after which the command was dismissed and repaired to their respective armories.

The detail of out-riders was under the command of Lieutenant Neal of Troop A, and on arrival of the escort at the Hotel Touraine, Lieutenant Neal, as instructed, reported to Col. Gordon Dexter for orders. The detail was ordered to report at 4 P.M., and was dismissed until that time. The detail was marched to the armory of Troop A. Horses were stabled and fed at Coldwell's stable, Chardon Street. Men had dinner at Troop A's armory, and reported, mounted, at the hotel, as ordered, at 4 P.M. Escorted the presidential party to the Mechanics Fair building. Aided by the efforts of the Hon. John Shaw, of the Home Market Club, men and horses were comfortably quartered in the basement of the fair building. Supper was furnished the men at 6.30 P.M. by quartermaster sergeant of Troop A, and nose bags and oats provided for the horses. At 9 P.M. horses were saddled, and, on receiving orders from Colonel Dexter, the command reported at the entrance, taking positions as fast as the carriages were loaded. On arrival at the hotel the men were dismissed, being ordered to report at 10.15 A.M., Friday, February 17. At the above hour detail was formed on Boylston Street, mustered by Paymaster Hall, and reported at the hotel, as ordered, escorting the presidential party to Tremont Temple and afterwards to the State House, afterwards to the Park Street entrance to the subway, and then to the Public Garden entrance, to await the arrival of the party on the conclusion of their tour through the subway. The party was then escorted to the Algonquin Club and the squad dismissed, to report back at 4 P.M. Horses and men were quartered at Draper & Hall's stable, where the quartermaster sergeant of Troop A again provided supplies for horses and men. At 4 P.M. the detail again reported for duty, escorting the presidential party at a rapid pace by Commonwealth Avenue, Arlington, Boylston, Tremont, Winter and Summer streets to the terminal station, where the command was relieved from further duty at about 5 P.M.

I wish to call special attention to the work of the detail of out-riders under command of Lieutenant Neal, to whom is due the greater share of credit for the success of the tour of duty.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM A. PERRINS,

Major.

CLINTON, MASS., Dec. 6, 1899.

To the Adjutant General of Massachusetts.

SIR : — I have the honor to report that Company K, Ninth Regiment Infantry, M. V. M., which I have the honor to command, was called out to assist the civil authorities, Dec. 4, 1899, on the occasion of a very big fire, which destroyed a large portion of the business district of the town.

The military call, "three sevens," was blown on the fire alarm at 5.10 P.M., which brought those within hearing distance of it to the armory; many had already assembled, in anticipation of such a call. The company was marched to the fire district, to patrol the streets leading to the scene of the fire, and placed to guard property that had been removed from threatened buildings.

The men reported very promptly, where notified personally or called by telephone. The corporations gave every assistance in notifying men called by telephone or the military alarm. At 5.20 P.M. there were 3 officers, 8 non-commissioned officers and 29 privates, — a total of 40 on duty; at 6.05 P.M. there were 3 officers, 11 non-commissioned officers, 1 musician and 35 privates, — a total of 50 on duty. The alarm was sounded only once, and many of the men did not know of it until after 6 o'clock, after work was over in the mills. They immediately reported for duty without getting any supper. A few other men, who worked beyond the limits of the town, reported after 6.15 P.M., but I did not put them on duty, as there was no need for more men.

At 6.30 P.M. the fire was under control and the crowds commenced to disperse. At 7.30 P.M. everybody was apparently well disposed, and almost all the property that had been removed from the stores and buildings had been concentrated in one lot, and therefore was easily guarded by a few men. I conferred with the civil authorities, and, as the fire was now completely blocked and under control, the chief of police assured me he could now attend to the situation with his own men. I was requested to leave a guard over the property in the lot, which I did, and then assembled the rest of the company, marched them to the armory and dismissed the men at 8 P.M. The guard of three men and a sergeant remained on duty until 6 A.M., December 5.

The men were equipped in blue fatigue uniform, cap and overcoat, with rod bayonet, Springfield rifle, cal. .45, web belt and ten rounds of ammunition.

The weather was quite cold and raw, with a high wind, and the streets were very wet in most places. The men are all well, and report no bad effect from the sudden call.

Very respectfully,

PETER J. CANNON,
Captain Company K, Ninth Infantry, M. V. M.

POLICE DEPARTMENT, CLINTON, MASS., Dec. 30, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General, State of Massachusetts, State House, Boston, Mass.

SIR:— We beg to offer, in behalf of the town of Clinton, our acknowledgment of the promptitude with which Capt. Peter J. Cannon, commanding Company K, Ninth Regiment, M. V. M., responded to our call for assistance on the night of Dec. 4, 1899, on the occasion of a serious fire in our town, and to express our appreciation of the services rendered by the officers and men of said company in guarding property and lives at that time.

We remain, very respectfully yours,

WM. RODGER,
Chairman Board of Selectmen.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST CORPS OF CADETS, M. V. M.,
BOSTON, July 17, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General of Massachusetts.

GENERAL: — I have the honor to report that my command performed its tour of annual drill according to law and orders at Hingham, on Saturday, July 8, and in like manner at the same place performed seven days of camp duty, from July 9 to July 15 inclusive. In order to be prepared on the spot for a full day of duty on July 8, the corps went into camp by my order on Friday afternoon, July 7.

The only change made at our camp ground since the tour of duty last performed there, in 1897, was in placing permanent stanchions for the tents. These stanchions are like those at the camp on the ground of the United States Military Academy at West Point, namely, cedar posts firmly fixed in the ground and connected by stout rails of spruce. They are painted black, with the same material used at West Point, but it does not stand the salt air at Hingham as it does the inland air on the Hudson, and we must find a substitute.

On Tuesday, July 11, His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, accompanied by several members of his staff, among whom were the Adjutant General, Surgeon General and Commissary General, arrived in camp about noon and remained until evening. His Excellency reviewed the corps at 4 o'clock P.M.

Gen. J. L. Carter, Inspector General, went to camp with the corps and remained with it during the entire tour, except when compelled by the duties of his office to make three brief visits elsewhere. He slept in camp every night. It was a matter of regret to the corps that the Adjutant General was unable to be with it, as usual, during the whole tour.

Rifle practice and signal practice were held daily, except on Sunday. The only interference with the routine of duty laid down in standing orders was by rain on Saturday, July 8, which prevented battalion drill and the ceremonies at the conclusion of the day.

It is a pleasure and a great gratification to me to say that this camp showed an improvement over the last camp, notwithstanding the fact that eighteen out of twenty commissioned officers were in positions new to them, the commanding officer and the Inspector of Rifle Practice being the only ones in their old places. This is a very good showing for those officers who by quite recent promotion or transfer had new duties to perform, and I desire, in simple justice, to commend them all highly. Nor should the enlisted men, particularly the non-commissioned officers and chiefs of squad, be overlooked in this commendation. Every man, as well as every officer, did his whole duty well. The discipline was excellent.

A table showing attendance is appended.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

THOMAS F. EDMANDS,
Lieutenant Colonel Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND CORPS CADETS, M. V. M.,
SALEM, MASS., Dec. 1, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General, Massachusetts.

GENERAL : — I have the honor to submit the following report of the duty performed by the Second Corps Cadets during the year 1899.

In compliance with General Orders No. 6, A. G. O., this command performed its annual tour of camp duty at Boxford, Mass., August 12 to 18 inclusive.

The corps was conveyed to and from the camp ground by special train.

On account of the indifference of the train hands in handling the baggage, a delay of over an hour was occasioned in pitching camp; however, by the aid of a specially arranged set of lines, practically all the tents were pitched before dinner.

The weather was fine during the entire week, and, commencing with guard mounting at 11.30 o'clock on Saturday, the drills and ceremonies were continued without any interruption until the close of the tour of duty.

The large camp ground is well adapted to the purposes of drilling in extended order, battle formations, exemplification of attack and defence, and advantage of seeking cover; and, as a result, much time was devoted to instruction, and benefit was derived from this line of work. The surrounding country affords ample opportunity for instruction and practice in advance and rear guard and out-post duty, and each company was sent out once during the week on a practice march. They started soon after reveille, travelled some five miles, cooked their own breakfast, exemplified grand guards and returned for dinner. Detailed reports and maps were received from each company, and I desire to record the excellence of the work of the officers in this connection. Some instruction was given to each company in building earth-works.

The health of the command was very good, not a case of sickness at the hospital being reported. As is usual in this organization, the Quartermaster provides for the rationing of the men, buying all the supplies; and, although the variety of the food was not as great as heretofore, the supply was sufficient, the quality good, and general satisfaction was expressed by all.

The corps expended some five hundred dollars in improvements and camp furnishings, and I believe that now the camp ground is as well appointed as the needs or comfort of a battalion, or even a regiment, require for a period of camp duty.

This year the canteen system was adopted and the results were most beneficial. The appearance of the men's quarters were much improved thereby, and the general conditions of the camp, particularly on visiting days, gave much satisfaction and was favorably commented on.

The rifle range was open at all hours of the day for practice with rifle and revolver, and good results were obtained.

The new members of the staff, while not having had experience in their respective departments, have previously served in the Massachusetts militia; and the unceasing energy displayed by them in accomplishing such good results did much to promote the success of the camp.

His Excellency the Governor and Commander-in-Chief visited the camp and reviewed the troops. Maj. Gen. Samuel Dalton and Brig. Gen. Marcus P. Miller were welcome guests of the corps, and their visit was highly enjoyed and the compliment appreciated. Col. Frank L. Locke was detailed to inspect the corps, and his assignment will be recalled with pleasure.

Pursuant to General Orders No. 12, A. G. O., the corps paraded in Boston at the reception of Admiral George Dewey. The strength of the command was the largest in its history, and it is worthy of note that it was the first time the entire staff was mounted. The corps also paraded on May 30, 1899, as an escort to Post 34, G. A. R., attending the exercises of Decoration Day.

Considering the fact that there is no rifle range within the city limits, the record of the corps, as shown by the reports of the year, is very creditable, all or very nearly all in each company having qualified or requalified in some class. If a suitable range can be found in this city, I have no doubt the city council will appropriate funds to properly equip it.

The report of the surgeon is herewith transmitted.

In conclusion, whatever measure of success may have attended this my initial year in command of this organization, it could not have been attained without the hearty support and encouragement which it has been my pleasure to receive.

I am, very respectfully,

WALTER F. PECK,
Lieutenant Colonel.

SPANISH WAR.

Continuation of the Narrative of Col. J. H. Whitney, Fifth Regiment Infantry, Mass., U. S. Vols., from 1898 to the Muster out of his Regiment, in March, 1899.

HEADQUARTERS FIFTH REGIMENT OF INFANTRY, SECOND BRIGADE, M. V. M., BOSTON, Dec. 11, 1899.

Maj. Gen. SAMUEL DALTON, Adjutant General of Massachusetts.

GENERAL:—I have the honor to make the following report of the duty performed by my command from the first day of January, 1899, to March 31, the time of the mustering out of my regiment from the volunteer service of the United States.

January 1 found my command at Camp Witherell, Greenville, S. C., where the regiment had arrived Nov. 18, 1899. The new year found the command in most excellent shape, in respects to drill and health.

On January 12 the First Battalion, under Major Morrison, was ordered to Greenville for provost duty for the next ten days.

The men strengthened the good impression made upon the city when on provost duty once before. The "Daily News" said: "This is the second term for the Massachusetts men, and they have again won the respect of our city. From all parts of the city come remarks commending their good work. The men are a fine-looking body, neat and careful, and they always make a good impression. Their officers are painstaking and considerate, and the provost work under them always runs smoothly."

On February 5 Lieutenant Colonel Weaver returned to the command, and he was given a most royal reception by officers and men.

Up to this time the regiment had not suffered very much from the cold, but with the beginning of February 8 the hardships from the cold began. All outside drills were suspended, and all efforts were made to care for the men. The guard posts were cut down one half and the time of guard duty was reduced one half, and on one or two nights of intense cold the guards were released from outside duty. During this blizzard some of the tents were blown down, others were badly torn, and, as a result, a number of men were exposed to the storm and inclemency of the weather. As a result of this, and of much carelessness on the part of some of the men, an epidemic of sickness came upon the regiment, which resulted in the death of several men from pneumonia. I am satisfied all was done for the men that could be done, and that no blame could be attached to any one for the calamity that came upon the regiment.

Several brigade drills and sham battles took place, under the command of General Lincoln and myself. In all these, as well as three or four practice marches, the regiment acquitted itself with much credit.

On February 21 the first authentic news of the mustering out of the regiment was received. Two days later General Lincoln was mustered out of the service, and I was ordered to take command of the Second Brigade, which I did. Major Morrison took command of the regiment, as Lieutenant Colonel Weaver had been ordered to inspect the books and records of all the regiments in the First Brigade.

The Third Battalion, under the command of Major Hanson, went on provost duty March 16, but after four days were ordered into quarantine, because of the exposure of a number of men to the measles. Careful work prevented the spread of the disease, and in a few days the men were released from quarantine.

The place of mustering out having caused some discussion in camp, as well as at home, I used my influence for the mustering out of the regiment in camp, as that would bring much better financial results to the men. Many thought a regiment of soldiers could not be taken home in a body after being mustered out, but I am glad to state that the men, after some discussion, voted almost unanimously so to do.

On March 31, after being mustered out of the service of the United States, the regiment started for home, conducting itself with credit in Washington, New York and Boston, where it arrived on Monday morning, April 3.

Over one thousand men passed in review before His Excellency Gov. Roger Wolcott and staff, and were given a warm reception by the citizens of Boston and vicinity.

After turning over the colors to His Excellency, the regiment was dismissed and the various companies taken in charge by committees from the municipalities which they represented.

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

J. H. WHITNEY,

Colonel Fifth Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE, M. V. M.,
BOSTON, Aug. 28, 1899.

Brig. Gen. R. A. BLOOD, Surgeon General, Massachusetts.

SIR: — I have the honor to submit to you the following report of medical department of the Second Brigade, M. V. M., for tour of duty at South Framingham, August 3 to 9 inclusive.

The weather was delightful, and almost all that could be desired for military duty.

The general health of the command was excellent, and few patients sick enough to be admitted to brigade hospital. Owing to the large number of veterans in the brigade, many of whom had suffered from malarial disease contracted in United States volunteer service, I anticipated many cases of illness requiring hospital treatment. I was agreeably disappointed in this, the number of sick being few, compared with other encampments. Only two cases during the week need special mention, — a case of appendicitis in an enlisted man of the Fifth Regiment, and fracture of the nose, caused by fall from horse, in enlisted man of Troop A. The former was sent to Massachusetts General Hospital for operation, the latter to Boston City Hospital. Form No. 16 was promptly forwarded in both of these cases.

Assistant Surgeons Jenkins, McGourty and Chadwick were detailed for duty at brigade hospital; they also attended the sick of Signal and Ambulance Corps. The latter organization has two medical officers, capable and willing to perform this work, but it is advisable to have the assistant surgeon in charge of hospital attend the sick. An officer who drills the command should not decide on the questions of disability, etc., of the members.

Policing of camp was excellent. Care of sinks was not properly attended to, and in my opinion never will be until placed in the hands of brigade commander. Civilian employees entrusted with this work cannot realize the importance of it. The sinks should be cared for by soldiers. For a short tour of duty in a militia camp, lime is a valuable disinfectant and deodorizer. By my advice, most of the medical officers procured lime for the sinks, and application for reimbursement was made out in proper form. I favor individual covering of stools and an occasional covering of lime. The copperas solution, as used, gives the sinks an unsightly appearance; it has some value as a disinfectant, but in a camp situated like ours a deodorizer is needed as well as a disinfectant.

The water supply is apparently good, but it is only a question of time when it will be contaminated. The camp ground has been occupied by large bodies of troops for several months in 1898, and is about to be used again for recruiting for United States Volunteer service. Leonard's Pond, which supplies the water, is apt to be polluted by excreta, etc. I recommend the introduction of the town supply, this will ensure good drinking water, and relieve the military authorities of a great responsibility.

I enclose the reports of two regimental surgeons. Others have not been heard from. I also enclose the consolidated sick report and weather observations. The latter are not complete. The meteorological set was not in fit condition to use, but the new one sent by you was satisfactory.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

WILLIAM H. DEVINE,
*Lieutenant Colonel and Medical Director,
Second Brigade, M. V. M.*

GENERAL ORDERS AND CIRCULARS.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Jan. 14, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 1.

Last of series of 1898, No. 19.

I. The following is published for the information of the militia : —

On the request of the Adjutant General for the opinion of the Attorney General of the Commonwealth on the following question : —

Does an officer of the active militia who does not enter the service of the United States and who accepts a commission in the provisional militia, authorized under provisions of chapter 428, Acts of 1898, vacate his former commission on accepting the latter?

the Attorney General renders the following decision : —

The provisional companies, battalions and regiments, authorized by Statutes of 1898, chapter 428, section 6, are, in my opinion, subject to the provisions of the general militia law, Statutes of 1893, chapter 367, excepting as otherwise specially provided.

Section 50 of the general militia law provides that "When an officer holding a military commission is elected or appointed to another office in the militia, and accepts the same, such acceptance shall vacate the office previously held."

The section last quoted answers your inquiry. "An officer who accepts an election to office in the militia vacates his former commission, whether the new commission be in the active or in the provisional militia."

II. Under the above opinion, the following-named commissioned officers of the active militia are hereby discharged as of the date of their commissions in the provisional militia : —

Capt. David M. Crotty, Company D, Ninth Infantry, July 19, 1898.

First Lieut. David W. Colburn, Company B, Sixth Infantry, Aug. 20, 1898.

First Lieut. John M. Portal, I. R. P., Sixth Infantry, Sept. 26, 1898.

III. The following-named enlisted men of the active militia will be discharged as of the dates of their several commissions in the provisional militia:—

Corp. William F. Henderson, Company C, Ninth Infantry, July 6, 1898.

Orderly Arthur E. Stone, Sixth Infantry, July 11, 1898.

Corp. James B. Goggin, Company D, Ninth Infantry, July 19, 1898.

Sergt. William W. Cann, Company D, Eighth Infantry, Aug. 8, 1898.

Sergt. Charles Henry Rice, Company K, Fifth Infantry, Sept. 12, 1898.

Priv. James Chester Hanson, Company G, Fifth Infantry, Sept. 26, 1898.

IV. Officers of the militia rejoined from service in the United States Volunteers, having in their possession military property, State or United States, on hand prior to their entry into the United States service and not taken by them into the said service, will take up such property on inventory blank and forward such inventories to this office.

V. The following-named officers having rendered continuous service as commissioned officers in the Volunteer Militia of the Commonwealth for periods of ten years and upwards, are, upon their own applications, placed upon the retired list as provided by law:—

Maj. George R. Rogers, First Corps of Cadets, with rank of lieutenant colonel from Jan. 10, 1899.

First Lieut. James E. R. Hill, Adjutant First Corps of Cadets, with rank of captain from Jan. 6, 1899.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, Dec. 28, 1898.

Maj. James A. Frye, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M., is hereby appointed Assistant Inspector General on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, with the rank of colonel, to date from Nov. 14, 1898.

(Signed) ROGER WOLCOTT,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

VI. Col. James A. Frye of Boston, having been duly commissioned and qualified, will be obeyed and respected accordingly.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Feb. 11, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 2.

I. Brig. Gen. Wm. A. Bancroft, having reported for duty from "leave," will assume command of the Second Brigade. Lieut. Col. Wm. H. Oakes, Fifth Regiment Infantry, M. V. M., is relieved from duty as commanding officer of the Second Brigade, M. V. M.

II. Lieut. Col. W. M. Bailey, Eighth Regiment Infantry, M. V. M., and Lieut. Col. Wm. H. Oakes, Fifth Regiment Infantry, M. V. M., will cause to be prepared and forwarded to this office a full list of officers and men of their regiments who did not enter the United States service and who are still in the militia. This list will show whether the men were rejected or were unable to enter the volunteer service. Hereafter all applications for discharge or any papers connected with the above regiments will be forwarded to the above officers for transmittal.

III. The following-named provisional companies are hereby relieved from duty, and will turn over their armories to the city or town authorities: third, fourth, nineteenth, twenty-sixth, thirtieth, thirty-second, thirty-third, thirty-fourth. All company books not already*turned in will be forwarded to this office at once; all other property, to State arsenal.

Captains of companies should forward list of non-commissioned officers appointed to this office, in order that discharges in accordance with law may be issued. Warrants will be issued by brigade commanders on application for the same by company commanders of provisional companies.

IV. Brig. Gen. J. L. Carter, Inspector General, will cause the several companies of the following organizations of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia to be inspected in their armories as soon as practicable, viz. : —

First Regiment Heavy Artillery.

Sixth Regiment Infantry.

Ninth Regiment Infantry.

Naval Brigade.

V. The following instructions, suggested by the Inspector General, governing the inspections herein ordered, are approved and published for the information and guidance of all concerned : —

Officers of the Inspector General's department will visit companies on regular drill nights as far as possible.

Not less than ten days' notice will be given to company commanders, by letter, and the regimental commanders and chief of Naval Brigade will be similarly notified.

Companies will be paraded for inspection in "fatigue dress," as defined in General Orders, No. 2, paragraph VII., series of 1898, with such uniforms, arms and equipments as may have been issued to them.

The scope of the inspections, while not limited hereby, will embrace particularly the number present and absent, character of the officers and men as to fitness for service in the Volunteer Militia, police of quarters, general condition of administration, and prospect of maintenance at a proper standard ; the main object being to inform the Commander-in-Chief of the present status of the organizations which have been reported for duty after service in the late war, and to give such assistance as may be to brigade and regimental commanders in assembling their commands.

Should the inspections disclose in any command evidence of indifference or lack of numbers sufficient to warrant its disbandment, special report will be made upon the same without delay.

Company commanders will be prepared to submit to the inspectors company roll books representing the roll of their companies on the date of inspection, and will be required to account for all absentees.

Inspecting officers will be assigned to the inspection of companies by the Inspector General as may be most expedient, without confining them to particular regiments, as has heretofore been the custom.

VI. Brigade commanders of the First and Second Brigades will instruct the Assistant Inspector General of their brigades to report by letter to the Inspector General for assignment to duty in connection with the inspections herein ordered.

The Inspector General will arrange to inspect the remaining organizations of the militia later.

VII. Requisitions for property will not be forwarded unless properly filled out in every respect, and headquarters and company commanders who were in the volunteer service will at once forward to this office inventories of all property not taken into the volunteer service, but retained in their possession.

VIII. Lieut. Col. Thomas F. Edmands, commanding First Corps of Cadets, M. V. M., will hold himself in readiness to detail a guard from his command in connection with the reception of the President of the United States on February 16.

IX. Maj. Wm. A. Perrins and Capt. Samuel D. Parker, commanding First Battalion of Cavalry and Battery A, respectively, will hold their commands in readiness for duty February 16, in connection with the reception of the President of the United States.

X. The following-named commissioned officers, having rendered continuous service for ten years and upwards, are, on their own request, placed on the retired list in accordance with the provisions of law: —

Maj. Orland J. Brown, surgeon, Second Regiment Infantry, as lieutenant-colonel, Jan. 28, 1899.

Lieut. Col. Samuel A. Johnson, Second Corps of Cadets, as colonel, Feb. 6, 1899.

First Lieut. Charles D. Colson, quartermaster, Second Regiment Infantry, as captain, Feb. 8, 1899.

First Lieut. Edgar A. Marshall, Company C, Eighth Regiment Infantry, as first lieutenant, Feb. 6, 1899.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, March. 4, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 3.

On the recommendation of Col. Richard D. Sears, Acting Inspector General of Rifle Practice, the following is published for the information and guidance of the militia: —

I. THE DEPARTMENT OF RIFLE PRACTICE. — The office of the Inspector General of Rifle Practice is established at the State House, Boston, to which address all official communications will be forwarded.

II GENERAL PROVISIONS. — The season of 1899, for range work, will close October 31. The following general rules are published for the guidance of all officers concerned in the work of the department: —

(a) Firing parties will always be in charge of officers or non-commissioned officers, who are reminded of the great responsibility they thereby assume, and of the absolute necessity of exercising extreme caution in order to prevent accidents. Rifles will be loaded at the firing-point only, and must be inspected before leaving the armory as well as before leaving the range. The ammunition of a company should be in trustworthy hands.

(b) Any soldier enlisting after this date will be expected to make, during the first year of his service, at least 40 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards, off-hand, firing not less than 20 shots; and any soldier on the rolls of the company on April 1, 1899, who has not done this, will be expected to do so before the close of the target season. These men will be designated as fourth-class marksmen, but no decorations will be issued for this grade. They will not be classed as “efficients.” Company commanders will see that all instruction necessary to accomplish this result is given.

(c) Detachments on their way to or from the rifle range should wear fatigue uniform. Ammunition should be carried in the web belt or cartridge box.

(d) Except in the branches of the service specified in paragraph III., section (f), no warrants will be issued to enlisted men who have failed to qualify as third-class marksmen or better.

(e) No enlisted man will be sent to the range until he has been taught how to aim the rifle or carbine standing and prone, how to adjust and use the sights, and how to pass the trigger without deranging the aim. In this preliminary instruction, Part 1, chapters 1, 2 and 3, of “Blunt’s Firing Regulations for Small Arms,” will be followed. The prescribed positions for firing standing and lying prone will be taught; other positions may be taught. This elementary instruction will be conducted by company commanders, or under their immediate supervision; they will be assisted by their lieutenants and non-commissioned officers.

It is recommended that each company, troop and division provide itself with reduced targets, with tripod, sandbag or clamp.

Company commanders will exercise their discretion in conducting details of individual practice at the range, bearing in mind the necessity of careful individual instruction, as well as that of accustoming the recruit to the recoil of his weapon before commencing record practice.

III. CONDITIONS GOVERNING QUALIFICATION. — Original qualifications and requalifications will be recorded under the following conditions : —

Hereafter the term “Requalification” will only be used to designate requalification in the highest class previously attained.

(a) Target. — Either the regulation elliptical target of the United States army, or the Creedmoor target, may be used.

(b) Positions. — At 200 yards, standing, without rest or artificial support ; at 500 yards, prone ; at 600 yards, any position.

(c) Qualifying Scores. — The prescribed scores for qualification in the several classes are as follows : —

Fourth class, 40 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards.

Third class, 55 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards.

Second class, 65 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards.

80 per cent. of the possible score at 500 yards.

S. S. class, 85 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards,
88 per cent. of the possible score at 500 yards, and
80 per cent. of the possible score at 600 yards.

For troops armed with the carbine : —

Fourth class, 36 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards.

Third class, 51 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards.

Second class, 61 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards.

First class, 76 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards, and 72 per cent. of the possible score at 500 yards.

S. S. class, 81 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards,
80 per cent. of the possible score at 500 yards, and
72 per cent. of the possible score at 600 yards.

(d) Distinguished Marksmen. — This class was created for the purpose of giving recognition to individual work of merit ; it is not a class for qualification. Marksmen holding rank in it will requalify as sharpshooters. Distinguished marksmen are sharpshooters of record (1) who have been authorized to represent the State in rifle competitions, or (2) who may be mentioned in orders as the “first fifteen” of foot troops or the “first two” of mounted troops in a State general competition, or (3) who have won an individual trophy in a State match.

(e) Arms. — Such as are issued by the State ; minimum trigger-pull, six pounds.

(f) Exceptions. — Hereafter members of the following organizations will not be expected to qualify with the rifle or carbine, and no provision for ammunition will be made : —

Ambulance Corps.
Signal Corps.

Light Batteries.
Headquarters Musicians.

(g) Revolver Qualifications. — Officers, non-commissioned staff officers, headquarters orderlies and enlisted men of commands entitled to be equipped with revolvers (Light Artillery, Cavalry, Naval Brigade) will qualify as follows, original qualifications being awarded by decorations, and requalifications by bars : —

Arm, the regulation Army or Navy .38 Colt's.

Position, standing without rest or support; arm extended; elbow free from body.

Minimum trigger pull, four pounds.

Target, that used for rifle qualifications at 200 yards.

(h) Qualifying Scores. — Second class, 80 per cent. of the possible score at 50 yards; first class, 90 per cent. of the possible score at 50 yards.

(i) For qualifications with the rifle or carbine, no averages will be computed for anything less than 20 shots at each range; with the revolver, no averages will be computed for anything less than 30 shots.

(j) Officers and men failing to requalify within three years of their original qualification will be dropped from the list of "efficients."

(k) Practice Shooting. — Any man wishing to practice and not go on record may do so at any time, provided he so notifies the officer in charge before shooting. Unless such notice is given, every shot must be entered for computation of his average.

(l) All qualifying scores will be shot in the presence of a commissioned or non-commissioned officer, will be certified on honor as correct by such supervisors, and in every case will be countersigned by a commissioned officer.

IV. DECORATIONS FOR MARKSMANSHIP. — Not more than six medals or badges awarded for rifle work may be worn on State duty. Such decorations will be those issued by the State in recognition of qualifications, or awarded in matches shot under State orders; save that officers and men who have won military decorations for rifle work, in matches of importance under other than State auspices, may apply, through channels, for permission to include them in the number above authorized. Officers and men entitled to qualify with the revolver are granted special permission to wear one revolver badge in addition to the six specified above. When not on ordered State duty, the number of decorations for rifle work allowed to be worn will be subject to the discretion of the commanding officers of organizations. Individual trophies become the property of the officers and men who win them. Except marksman's buttons, no decorations for rifle work will be worn on the fatigue dress.

Distinguished marksmen and sharpshooters who have received sleeve devices in place of marksman's buttons may obtain the buttons by applying to the office of the Inspector General of Rifle Practice through channels.

V. MONEY ALLOWANCES. — Ammunition will not be issued to companies for rifle practice, but an allowance of $1.50 will be made to each member of a company armed with a rifle or carbine who makes 55 per cent. of the possible score at 200 yards, off-hand, firing not less than 10 shots. In revolver shooting no allowance of money or ammunition will be made. The claim for this allowance will be made on the annual return of rifle practice of each company, and the Inspector General of Rifle Practice will certify to the Adjutant General the amount due on such returns.

VI. AMMUNITION ALLOWANCES. — An allowance of 500 rounds of service ammunition will be made to each headquarters, to be drawn from the department of the Quartermaster General.

VII. FIGURE OF MERIT. — The standing of each company will be determined by the following rule: every member in service at the close of the target season who has made a sharpshooter's score during the target year, will count 5 points; a first-class score, 4 points; a second-class score, 3 points; a third-class score, 2 points; a fourth-class score, 1 point.

VIII. COMPETITIONS. — The conditions governing competitions will be published in future orders.

IX. ANNUAL RETURNS. — The annual returns of rifle practice must be forwarded in time to reach the Inspector General of Rifle Practice not later than Nov. 10, 1899.

Returns (on blanks later to be issued) for the quarters ending June 30 and September 30, will be forwarded on or before July 10 and October 10.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, March 30, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 4.

I. The companies of the provisional militia not hitherto assigned to brigades are hereby attached as follows: —

To the First Brigade, M. V. M., the eleventh, twenty-eighth and twenty-ninth companies of infantry, provisional militia.

To the Second Brigade, M. V. M., the thirtieth, thirty-first, thirty-second, thirty-third and thirty-fourth companies of infantry, provisional militia.

These assignments, though the companies have been relieved from duty, are for the purpose of facilitating the muster-out of companies and the discharge of enlisted men.

II. The following-named commissioned officers, having rendered continuous service for ten years and upwards, are, on their own request, placed on the retired list in accordance with the provisions of law : —

Capt. Henry B. Rice, First Corps of Cadets, M. V. M., as major, Feb. 18, 1895.

Capt. William H. Alline, First Corps of Cadets, M. V. M., as major, Feb. 27, 1899.

First Lieut. Walter L. Bouvé, First Corps of Cadets, M. V. M., as captain, March 8, 1899.

III. The Attorney General has rendered an opinion on questions raised, as follows : —

(1) Does a soldier of the active militia, relieved from duty because he is unable (for reasons) to go into the United States service with his command, forfeit his standing in the active militia by enlisting in the provisional militia, and can such soldier rejoin his company on its return from the Spanish war, or must he be discharged from the provisional militia for re-enlistment in the active militia, and perhaps lose thereby his continuous service?

Such a soldier does not forfeit his standing in the active militia by entering the provisional militia, but may be ordered by the Commander-in-Chief to rejoin his regular company on its return. His service in the provisional militia is subordinate to his duty in the active militia. It is not necessary as a prerequisite that he be discharged from the provisional militia.

(2) Would the commander of an organization be warranted in discharging a soldier, relieved from duty because he could not accompany his company into the United States service, because he enlisted in a provisional company, and perhaps thus deprive him of continuous service?

This question must be answered in the negative.

(3) Can men of the provisional militia be transferred to the active militia upon their application and the consent of the company commanders from which and to which such transfer is desired, as is permissible with the active militia?

For the reasons above stated, such men are subject to the orders of the Commander-in-Chief, and may be by him transferred to the active militia, either upon their application and the consent of the company commanders, or by the order of the Commander-in-Chief without such application.

IV. Commissioned officers and enlisted men of the Fifth and Eighth Regiments of Infantry, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, who were granted leave of absence, furloughed, or relieved from duty by General Orders, No. 8, from this office, dated May 18, 1898, will rejoin their commands upon the return of these regiments after discharge from the United States service.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, April 15, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 5.

I. The following is published for the information of all concerned : —

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, April 14, 1899.

Executive Order.

Peace between the United States of America and the Kingdom of Spain having been proclaimed by the President of these United States, the existence of the provisional militia called into the service of the Commonwealth under section 6, chapter 428, Acts of 1898, being no longer necessary, it is disbanded.

The Commander-in-Chief takes opportunity to thank the officers and men of the provisional militia for the service rendered.

(Signed) ROGER WOLCOTT.

II. In accordance with the orders of the Commander-in-Chief, the provisional militia is disbanded, to take effect on the fifteenth day of April, 1899. Discharge of officers and men will issue from this office.

III. The commanders of brigades of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia will promulgate this order to the provisional militia affected thereby.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, May 27, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 6.

I. The troops comprising the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia will hold their annual encampments for the year 1899 as follows : —

First Brigade, Brig. Gen. Thomas R. Matthews, commanding, at the State camp grounds, South Framingham, August 19 to 25 inclusive.

Second Brigade, Brig. Gen. W. A. Bancroft, commanding, August 3 to 9 inclusive; place to be named later.

First Corps of Cadets, Hingham, July 9 to 15 inclusive. The annual drill of this command will take place at Hingham, July 8.

Second Corps of Cadets, at Boxford, August 12 to 18 inclusive.

Naval Brigade, commencing September 6, for seven days, to conform to orders of Navy Department.

II. Capt. Myles Standish, commanding the Ambulance Corps, will make two details of his command, with such officers as he may deem necessary, for duty with the First and Second Brigades at encampments.

III. Troops will arrive in camp in season to pitch their camps.

Commanding officers will detail an officer as commissary, who shall be prepared to issue rations to companies. Cooks will be detailed from companies, and caterers' or laborers' help will not be allowed. A plan of ration issue is being formulated, and will be promulgated later. All troops will perform duty under this order in campaign uniform, and all baggage will be reduced to the minimum.

IV. Mattresses or bedding will not be kept in mess halls during the day.

V. No enlisted man will be returned for pay unless enlisted thirty days before the tour of duty, excepting in case of re-enlistments.

VI. Brigade commanders are hereby ordered to assume control of the State camp ground (excepting the arsenal and buildings immediately adjoining) on the day prior to the encampment of their respective commands, if they desire, but without pay. Proper details will be made for guarding all property, and the provost guard will guard all buildings, hospitals and property the day preceding the camp, and infantry details will perform this duty during camp.

They will detail a provost guard, and from each battalion, unattached company of cavalry and artillery the quartermaster and the quartermaster sergeant, for duty on the day preceding the encampments. Troops arriving in camp on the day preceding the date of encampment will be under orders of the brigade commanders, and enlisted men will not leave camp without a pass. Brigade commanders will also detail a staff officer to attend to embarking and disembarking troops at depots in Boston and South Framingham, on the first and fifth days at camp,* who shall forward a detailed report of the same through channels to this office.

They will issue stringent orders relative to care of quarters and uniform arrangement of the same, and extra and useless baggage and boxes will not be allowed in quarters, and brigade orders will give the maximum of baggage to be allowed.

The judge advocate of each brigade is hereby ordered during the encampments to exercise jurisdiction under section 110, chapter 367 of the Acts of 1893.

VII. Requisitions for quartermasters' supplies will not be received or filled in camp except in cases of special emergency, and the practice of delaying requisitions until arrival in camp will be discontinued.

VIII. Bills for transportation of all horses for headquarters, approved by the commanding officer, with accompanying vouchers, will be forwarded immediately upon the completion of duty, and will be paid through the paymaster. Vouchers must accompany each bill for horse transportation, but bills will not be forwarded for horses ridden to or from camp by officers; and, where horses are delivered on the camp ground in lots, the full allowance for transportation will not be asked for, but a reasonable amount for such transportation.

IX. The veterinary surgeons of each brigade will thoroughly inspect all horses reported for duty, and they are authorized to reject horses unfit for service, and order that they shall not be returned for allowance on bills or pay rolls. If possible, they will inspect the horses for artillery and cavalry prior to their leaving their home posts. If it is necessary, in order to accomplish this, to have the duty performed the day before camp, the veterinary surgeons will perform this duty on those days, and be returned on pay rolls for extra duty.

X. The horses of officers and enlisted men for which allowance is made will not be ridden by civilians under any consideration whatever, and all racing and over-driving is strictly prohibited.

XI. Officers of the guard will, as soon as guard is mounted, take an inventory of all State property — uniforms, arms, equipments, etc. — which each enlisted man of his guard has; and before dismissing his guard, on being relieved by the new guard, will see that every man has all property he reported; and in case of loss will at once report it to the Quartermaster General, and will make entry on guard book of losses or no loss. Reports of loss of property on guard means inefficient guard officers. The guard quarters and the grounds around the same will be kept clean by the guard each day.

XII. Brigade commanders will make such rules as to passes for citizens as they may deem best for the interests of the service, and are hereby authorized to designate visiting days, if in their judgment it is best.

Passes for enlisted men to leave camp will not be given except in urgent cases, and all enlisted men found outside of camp without authority will be arrested and at once court-martialed.

Returns of absentees, which must be properly filled out, with recommendations for action, in full, — and none will be returned without such recommendations, — will be forwarded with pay rolls to the Adjutant General. Captains of companies will see that no man is recommended for discharge who has not been properly notified of the tour of duty.

XIII. The Inspector General will detail officers of his department to attend the above camps and report on the same. Such officers detailed will report at the camp for duty at 10 o'clock A.M., to note the arrival of troops, the manner of pitching camp, and the performance of the routine duty.

XIV. All commissioned officers of infantry will be permitted to wear the white insignias and stripes when all officers of the regimental or battalion organizations procure them pending the decision of the War Department relative to the change of insignias. Non-commissioned officers of regiments and battalions may likewise wear the white chevrons and stripes when all procure them. For the present, blue chevrons and stripes will only be issued to enlisted men.

XV. As dress coats have been discarded for the present, permission is hereby granted to wear on the blouse all medals authorized in previous orders and no others. Corps badges may be worn on the right side of campaign hat or forage cap of either the war of the rebellion or the Spanish war.

Provision is already made for service chevrons in time of war and no others will be worn.

XVI. On the recommendation of the Surgeon General, examinations of recruits will take place twice each month in the First, Second, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth Regiments of Infantry, the Naval Brigade, the First and Second Corps of Cadets, First Battalion of Cavalry, First Battalion of Artillery, and once each month in Batteries A, F, Cavalry, Signal and Ambulance Corps.

Commanding officers will detail medical officers to perform this duty. Special duty pay and mileage will be allowed.

The examinations will be under the supervision of the Surgeon General, who has prepared the following instructions, and medical officers will be governed by them in examinations. The Surgeon General will issue full regulations in pamphlet form later.

1. Less height than five feet four inches, should reject (height taken in stocking feet).

2. A chest measurement less than thirty-two inches at the termination of normal expiration, should reject.

3. A difference between expiration and inspiration of less than two inches, should reject.

4. Weight less than one hundred and twenty pounds, and greater than two hundred and ten pounds, infantry and artillery, and greater than one hundred and seventy pounds, cavalry and light artillery, should reject.

5. No man should be enlisted under eighteen nor more than forty-five years of age.

6. The loss of the sight of an eye should reject. Permanent defects of one or both eyes, which impair the vision for proper marksmanship, sentry duty, etc., should reject; however, any defect in vision that can be corrected, need not reject. For signal service duty and naval brigade men, color blindness should always reject.

7. A degree of permanent deafness that may prevent the proper reception of the countersign, should reject.

8. Defective articulation that may prevent giving proper alarm and the countersign, should reject.

9. Chronic rheumatism, should reject; any history or evidence of this disease should cause final rejection.

10. Repeated attacks of acute rheumatism, should reject.

11. Repeated attacks of sciatica, should reject, if associated with rheumatism or gouty diathesis.

12. Chronic bronchitis, if complicated with asthma or emphysema, should reject.

13. Repeated attacks of pleurisy should reject.

14. Asthma, if complicated with chronic bronchitis, should reject.

15. Chronic persistent laryngitis, should reject.

16. Tuberculosis,—evidence of this disease in the lungs or joints, or other important portions of the body, should reject.

17. Disease of bone,—caries, necrosis and other diseases of bone, should reject.

18. Bright's disease, should reject.

19. Aneurism, should reject.

20. Valvular disease of the heart, should reject.

21. Persistent, painful and prolapsed hemorrhoids, should reject; nor should one be accepted who has chronic prolapse of any portions of the rectal structure.

22. Fistula-in-ano, should reject.

23. Hernia, irreducible,—irreducible hernia, of whatever variety, should reject.

24. A large hydrocele of any variety should cause temporary rejection; if relieved by treatment, it need not finally reject.

25. Cystitis, should reject.

26. Persistent jaundice, should reject.

27. Varicose veins,—varicose veins of extremities, if amenable to treatment, need not reject.

28. Epilepsy, should reject.

29. Appendicitis, — repeated attacks of appendicitis, should reject.
30. Flat-foot, — flat-foot, if extreme, should reject.
31. Loss of digits, — loss of thumb or any two fingers of a hand, should reject.
32. Glycosuria, — continued presence of sugar in the urine, should reject.
33. Disfigurements, deformities, etc., — a disfigurement or deformity constituting a well-marked blemish of soldierly appearance, should reject.
34. There are numerous diseases and conditions not mentioned in the foregoing which should reject at once. Medical officers will act on the line of inquiry designated, in a discreet and intelligent manner.

XVII. Company commanders will at once make application for discharge of all enlisted men who failed to pass the physical examination required, when they presented themselves for acceptance in the organizations that were mustered into the U. S. volunteer army for the war with Spain. Exceptions may be made where the physical disabilities do not now exist.

XVIII. Requisitions and receipts intended for the files of the Quartermaster General will not be numbered, but vouchers accompanying semi-annual returns will be numbered in regular order.

XIX. The following-named commissioned officer, having rendered continuous service in the militia of the Commonwealth for a period of more than twenty-three years, is on his own request placed on the retired list, in accordance with the provisions of law : —

Maj. William L. Richardson, surgeon, First Corps of Cadets, as lieutenant colonel, April 22, 1899.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, July 1, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 7.

I. The Second Brigade, M. V. M., Brig. Gen. Wm. A. Bancroft, commanding, will perform its annual camp duty at the State camp ground, South Framingham, on August 3 to 9 inclusive.

II. The First Regiment of Heavy Artillery, Col. Charles Pfaff, commanding, will perform its annual camp duty at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, August 12 to 18 inclusive. Requisitions will be forwarded for camp equipage required.

III. Commanding officers of organizations of the militia who have not been fully equipped will at once make requisition for a full complement, including Buzzacott ovens. Haversacks, canteens, canteen straps, mess kits and knapsacks will not be issued. They will also require for web belts, woollen and rubber blankets. Overcoats, woollen blankets and rubber blankets will be kept in original packages, and issued for duty only. Overcoats and woollen blankets will receive proper care as to cleanliness and freedom from moths. Rubber blankets will be kept in a cool place.

IV. Losses of overcoats, woollen or rubber blankets or parts of cooking outfit, will not be resupplied, and such losses will be replaced by the companies at their expense.

V. As soon as web belts are received, leather belts and cartridge boxes will at once be forwarded by freight to the State arsenal, properly marked with contents, and from whom. Invoices will be forwarded to this office. One leather belt will be retained for company musician, where companies have them; one will be required for companies having no belts with the web belts.

VI. All officers of the militia have permission to wear the U. S. Army regulation Khaki uniform when ordered on duty in campaign uniform, when all the commissioned officers of each brigade, regiment, battalion or cadet corps procure them. U. S. regulations for these uniforms will be strictly adhered to, but the United States or State coat-of-arms will not be worn.

VII. Paragraph VI. of General Orders, No. 6, dated May 27, relative to embarkation and disembarkation of troops, is hereby amended to read "first and last days of camp."

VIII. Brigade commanders will assume command of the camp ground the day preceding camps, and will make return of the same on pay rolls.

As proper equipment cannot be procured in time for camps, General Order, No. 6, relative to issue of rations and caterers, is hereby rescinded.

Companies will provide their rations, cook and serve them when feasible. Companies will provide their table ware, and, if field ovens are required, requisitions should be made for the same for use at camps.

The following ration has been recommended by the Surgeon General, and is published as a basis on which companies may provide camp rations: — manner of cooking, cost of same, and such recommendations as to rations to be issued by the Commonwealth another year.

The following-named commissioned officers, having rendered continuous service in the militia of the Commonwealth for a period of ten years and upwards, are on their own request retired : —

Capt. Reuben W. Ropes, Second Corps of Cadets, as captain, June 3, 1899.

Capt. Henry L. Kincaid, Company K, Fifth Infantry, as captain, June 22, 1899.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant-General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, July 8, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 8.

I. The following is published for the information of the militia : —

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, July 5, 1899.

The following-named officer is hereby appointed Inspector General of Rifle Practice, with rank of colonel, to take date from July 1, 1899 : —

Col. James A. Frye, Assistant Inspector General.

(Signed) ROGER WOLCOTT,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

II. Col. James A. Frye, having been duly commissioned and qualified, will be obeyed and respected accordingly. Col. James T. Soutter is hereby relieved from duty as Acting Inspector General of Rifle Practice.

III. Col. Harry E. Converse, Acting Quartermaster General, is assigned to duty at the camps of the First and Second Brigades. He will assume charge of all issues of camp and garrison equipage.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Aug. 10, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 9.

I. In recognition of the service rendered by the Massachusetts Militia, General Orders, No. 12, dated May 2, 1896, are hereby amended so as to permit the wearing of the diagonal half chevron, indicating war service, by non-commissioned officers, privates and musicians. These stripes will be one-eighth of an inch wide, for artillery white and for all other corps red, and will be worn on each sleeve, as provided in said order. When the stripes of the color only are worn, they will be placed one-half inch apart, so as to admit the placing between of the five-year service chevron, when the wearer, by length of service, becomes entitled thereto.

II. The following distinctive insignia for paymasters of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia is hereby published for the information of all concerned : —

PAYMASTERS' DEPARTMENT.

INSIGNIA. — A diamond embroidered in silver, or made of silver metal, in exact imitation of silver embroidery, diagonal, in size three-quarters of an inch by one inch, the shorter diagonal parallel to the line of shoulders, to be placed as follows : —

For Officers below the Rank of Colonel. — For each shoulder knot a diamond of the pattern above described, placed upon the centre of the pad, the shorter diagonal parallel to the line of shoulders.

For Undress Coat. — The same device, embroidered in gold or of gold or gilt metal, in exact imitation of gold embroidery, to be worn on the collar, placed with shorter diagonal vertical.

III. Requisitions on the Quartermaster General forwarded to this office are not to be numbered, but will be endorsed with the name and title of requiring officer, and the company and other designation, on both original and duplicate requisition.

IV. The following-named commissioned officers, having rendered continuous service for ten years and upwards, are, on their own request, placed on the retired list, as of the date and the rank set against each in accordance with the provisions of law : —

Capt. Reuben W. Ropes, Second Corps of Cadets, as captain, June 3, 1899.

Capt. Henry L. Kincaid, Company K, Fifth Infantry, as captain, June 22, 1899.

Maj. Reuben A. Whipple, Second Infantry, as lieutenant colonel, July 25, 1899.

Capt. Charles Williamson, Company I, First Heavy Artillery, as major, July 26, 1899.

First Lieut. H. Lincoln Chase, Fifth Infantry, as first lieutenant, July 26, 1899.

V. Returns of elections will be made seasonably to avoid the inconvenience resulting from such returns being received immediately upon the meeting of the examining board, and to give time sufficient for the preparation of commissions and other papers necessary. The attention of officers ordering elections is called to this paragraph.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Aug. 19, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 10.

I. The following is published for the information of the militia : —

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, Aug. 18, 1899.

Company M, Naval Brigade, located in Gloucester, and commanded by Lieut. Wm. C. O'Brien as chief of company, organized under the Acts of 1898, having been reported by the chief of the Naval Brigade and Inspector General as below the required standard of efficiency, and its services being no longer required, is hereby disbanded, under the provisions of section 5 of the act cited.

The Adjutant General will issue an order of disbandment, and take the necessary precaution for the recovery of military property in possession of the company.

(Signed) ROGER WOLCOTT,
Commander-in-Chief.

II. Company M, Naval Brigade, is hereby disbanded. Honorable discharges for officers and men will be issued from this office. Capt. John W. Weeks, commanding Naval Brigade, will at once take possession of all United States and State property for which the commanding officer of Company M is responsible, and have the same property packed and forwarded by freight to the State arsenal, sending invoices of the same to this office.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Sept. 1, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 11.

On recommendation of Col. James A. Frye, Inspector General of Rifle Practice, the following regulations governing small-arms qualifications and competitions are published for the information and guidance of the militia, all conflicting provisions of earlier orders hereby being revoked :—

I. SEASON FOR RANGE WORK. — The qualification period for 1899 is extended one month, closing on Thursday, November 30. Qualification returns will be filed in the office of the Inspector General of Rifle Practice on or before Saturday, December 9. Failure in absolute compliance with this regulation will involve the stoppage of money allowances for qualifications.

II. RIFLE AND CARBINE QUALIFICATIONS. — The prescribed scores for qualification are as below noted. Each score shall be of five shots, with a possible total of 25 points. Strings of five consecutive shots already recorded under the provisions of paragraph III. (c), General Orders, No. 3, A. G. O., current series, which satisfy the below requirements, may be turned in accordingly. Officers and enlisted men of cavalry, firing with the carbine for qualification, shall be allowed one point on each score at 200 yards, and two points on each score at the longer ranges. Other conditions remain as prescribed in existing orders.

CLASS.	200 YARDS.	500 YARDS.	600 YARDS.
Thrd,	Two scores of 15.	- -	- -
Second,	Two scores of 18.	- -	- -
First,	Two scores of 21.	Two scores of 21.	- -
Sharpshooter,	Two scores of 22.	Two scores of 23.	Two scores of 21.

III. REVOLVER QUALIFICATIONS. — The prescribed scores for qualification are as below noted. Each score shall be of six shots, with a possible total of 30 points. Strings of six consecutive shots already recorded under the provisions of paragraph III. (h), General Orders, No. 3, A. G. O., current series, which satisfy the below requirements, may be turned in accordingly. Other conditions remain as prescribed in existing orders.

Second Class, Two scores of 25.
First Class, Two scores of 28.

IV. STATE GENERAL COMPETITION. — Teams from regiments and battalions of infantry, each troop of cavalry, the First Heavy Artillery and the Naval Brigade, will compete at Walnut Hill Range on Tuesday, October 24. Team entries, with names of captain and contestants, will be filed by commanding officers with the Inspector General of Rifle Practice on or before Saturday, October 21.

Conditions for Foot Troops. — Teams of fifteen, officers or men.

Scores, ten shots each at 200 and 500 yards, with one sighting shot at each distance. Prizes: to the winning team, the "Tri-Color," with a trophy for regimental headquarters; to the second team, a trophy for regimental headquarters; individual decorations for the fifteen ranking scores made by sharpshooters of record who never have won a State prize; mention in orders, and a trophy cup, for the fifteen ranking competitors, without regard to class.

Conditions for Cavalry. — Teams of ten, officers or men. Scores, fifteen shots at 200 yards, with one sighting shot. Prizes: to the winning team, the "Guidon Trophy," with a further trophy to become the property of the troop; individual decorations for the two ranking scores made by sharpshooters of record who never have won a State prize; mention in orders, with a trophy cup, for the two ranking competitors, without regard to class.

Pay and transportation will be allowed for teams, and for officers and enlisted men on special duty under orders at the competition. Further details will be published in later orders.

V. CORPS COMPETITIONS. — At the discretion of commanding officers of regiments and battalions of infantry, the First Heavy Artillery and Naval Brigade, corps competitions may be held at any date before the close of the season for range work. Notice of place and date will be filed in such cases with the Inspector General of Rifle Practice one week prior to the event. Reports of such competitions, giving all scores in shot for shot detail, will be forwarded within a period of twenty-four hours thereafter. No special corps competition will be ordered for the cavalry.

Conditions. — Teams of ten, officers or men, from each company, battery or division. Scores, ten shots at 200 yards, with one sighting shot. Prizes: for the three ranking teams of each regiment, each a trophy; for the two ranking teams of the Naval Brigade, each a trophy; for the ranking team of each Corps of Cadets, a trophy.

Transportation will be allowed for teams, and for officers and enlisted men on special duty under orders. Prior to competitions, lists of special duty details will be submitted for approval to the Inspector General of Rifle Practice by commanding officers.

VI. MONEY ALLOWANCES. — An allowance of $1.50 will be made for each officer or enlisted man of companies, batteries, troops or divisions, armed with the rifle or carbine, who, having qualified or requalified during the current season for range work, remains in the service on November 30.

VII. REQUALIFICATIONS. — Marksmen of record requalifying in lower classes will retain the designation of their highest previous grade, but in computing the figure of merit for their commands, only the actual value of their requalification scores will be credited. The use of the symbol " R " to denote requalification will be discontinued, scores actually made being recorded against marksmen of all classes.

VIII. FIGURE OF MERIT. — Commands will be ranked for efficiency in marksmanship on the following basis: for each officer or enlisted man in service on November 30, who has made during the current season a sharpshooter's score, five points will be credited; a first-class score, four points; a second-class score, three points; a third-class score, two points; and for each officer or enlisted man who has shot two five-shot scores without qualifying in any class, one point.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Sept. 13, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 12.

I. The militia will perform its annual drill, as required by law, at Boston, on Monday, Oct. 9, 1899.

II. Brig. Gen. Thomas R. Mathews, commanding First Brigade, M. V. M., will report with his brigade on north side of Commonwealth Avenue, right resting at Arlington Street, at 11 o'clock A.M. on the above date.

III. Brig. Gen. William A. Bancroft, commanding Second Brigade, M. V. M., will report with his command on the south side of Commonwealth Avenue, right resting at Arlington Street, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 9.

IV. Capt. John W. Weeks, commanding Naval Brigade, M.V.M., will report with his command on Beacon Street, right resting at corner of Arlington Street, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 9.

V. Lieut. Col. Thomas F. Edmands, commanding First Corps of Cadets, having performed the duty of annual drill and having volunteered for this duty, will report with his command on Beacon Street, right resting on left of Naval Brigade, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 9.

VI. Lieut. Col. Walter F. Peck, commanding Second Corps of Cadets, M. V. M., will report with his command on Beacon Street, right resting on left of First Corps of Cadets, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 9.

VII. Capt. Myles Standish, commanding Ambulance Corps, will report on Beacon Street, right resting on left of Second Corps of Cadets, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 9.

VIII. All commands will parade in fatigue uniform of blue with campaign hats in place of fatigue caps; overcoats to be rolled in yoke. Companies will provide the coat straps of russet leather, same width as heretofore issued.

All foot troops will report with haversacks, canteens and dippers; also one ration, to be carried in haversacks; dipper will be hung to strap of haversack.

Troops will be rationed at the hour named by brigade and separate commanders, but troops will not be allowed to leave the line for rations. Arrangements for hot coffee should be made, and precaution taken that all horses are watered before the troops march.

All mounted enlisted men will attach haversack and canteen to saddle; canteen on right, haversack on left side of saddle.

IX. All commissioned officers will be held personally responsible for their commands, and no enlisted men will leave the ranks, or be excused, except for urgent reasons.

X. All troops will be in readiness to move promptly at 12.30 o'clock over the following route: Arlington to Beacon, to Charles, to Boylston, to Washington, to Summer, to High, to Congress, to Milk, to Broad, to State, to Court, to Tremont, to Beacon, passing in review before the Commander-in-Chief at the State House to Beacon Street gate of Common, where troops will be massed, and the colors of the Spanish war carried from the Commonwealth by the six regiments of Massachusetts Infantry, U. S. Volunteers, will be officially turned over to the Commonwealth. At the conclusion of the formation of the division line, commanding officers of the six infantry regiments and Naval Brigade will be ordered to the front and centre of the division, with the color bearers bearing the war flags, when order will be given to salute the colors. At the conclusion of the salute, officers and colors will face about, and, commencing with the senior commanding officer, each will turn over his colors to the Commander-in-Chief. The colors turned over will be escorted to the State House with the Commander-in-Chief by a detail of troops. At the conclusion of the ceremony on the Common the commands will be dismissed and at once return to home stations. Men will not appear on street in uniforms after dismissal at armories.

XI. The Surgeon General will make such arrangements as he deems proper for the proper care of troops, and forward ambulance to Boston.

Troops will arrange their transportation; mileage will be paid on pay rolls.

Brig. Gen. James L. Carter, Inspector General, will make assignments of inspection officers.

Col. H. E. Converse, Acting Quartermaster General, will confer with brigade commanders and make sanitary arrangements; also provision for watering horses.

Requisitions will at once be forwarded for haversacks, canteens and dippers for enlisted men of the six regiments of infantry.

Brigade commanders will assign staff officers to railroad stations, to note the embarking, disembarking and conduct of troops.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Sept. 29, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 13.

I. His Excellency the Governor and Commander-in-Chief will command the militia on the march, October 9. Headquarters will be established at 11.30 A. M., on Arlington Street, opposite Commonwealth Avenue. Troops will be in readiness to move promptly at 12.30 P. M. When the head of the column arrives at State House, Brig. Gen. Thomas R. Mathews, commanding First Brigade, M. V. M., will take command of the militia, passing in review before the Commander-in-Chief and proceeding to Boston Common, taking charge of formation and ceremonies of turning over the war colors.

II. First Brigade will enter the Common by the Charles Street gate, and Second Brigade and all other troops by gate corner of Beacon and Charles streets.

III. Troops will be formed ten files front, guides additional, and will march in that formation, when possible.

IV. General Mathews will detail one company from each of the six infantry regiments and Naval Brigade as escort to the Commander-in-Chief and the war colors; also a commanding officer and such staff as he may deem best. This command will report front and centre of line at conclusion of ceremonies, and proceed by way of Charles and Beacon streets gate to State House, after which General Mathews will dismiss the troops.

V. Gen. T. R. Mathews will detail a mounted color bearer from the First Brigade to report to the Adjutant General at 12 o'clock noon on Arlington Street, and a band leader for the consolidated band. Color bearer will provide socket on stirrup for colors. General Mathews is also authorized to make plans of formations and details of ceremonies, and forward the same to commanding officers, and to call meetings of commanding officers of brigades and battalions prior to October 9, if he deems it necessary.

VI. Troops will be mustered for pay prior to 12.30 on October 9.

VII. So much of General Order as prohibited troops from occupying the park on Commonwealth Avenue is hereby rescinded.

VIII. Brig. Gen. Wm. A. Bancroft, commanding Second Brigade, M. V. M., will detail a mounted bugler to report to the Adjutant General at 12 o'clock noon on Arlington Street.

IX. Paragraph 10, General Orders, No. 12, A. G. O., dated Sept. 13, 1899, is amended to read as follows: The troops will be in readiness to move promptly at 12.30 P.M. over the following route: Arlington to Beacon, to Charles, to Boylston, to Tremont, to Winter, to Summer, to High, to Congress, to Milk, to Broad, to State (north side Old State House), to Washington, to School, to Beacon, to Common.

X. The war colors will be placed in rear of color companies with guard. Regimental and battalion colors will parade with color company in their usual position.

On the march, commands will take only regulation distance, and any break in column will be immediately reported to commanding officer.

XI. If weather requires overcoats to be worn, capes will be hooked back outside, and equipments will be worn outside of overcoat.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Sept. 29, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 14.

I. The following is published for the information of the militia:—

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, BOSTON, Sept. 29, 1899.

Upon reports and endorsements received, it appears that Company B, Eighth Regiment of Infantry, Second Brigade, M. V. M., has fallen below the proper standard, and, having been given an opportunity to re-establish itself in the militia and failed to do so, let an order be issued disbanding said company.

(Signed)

ROGER WOLCOTT,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

II. Company B, Eighth Regiment of Infantry, Second Brigade, M. V. M., is hereby disbanded. Honorable discharges for officers and men will be issued from this office.

III. Lieut. Col. E. W. M. Bailey, Eighth Regiment of Infantry, will take possession of all books and papers ; also property of the United States or State that may be in possession of Company B, and forward the same to the State arsenal.

IV. Commanders of brigades, regiments and battalions of the militia will make requisitions from time to time, as may be necessary, for the blanks requisite for the use of the organizations attached to their commands, and no blanks will be issued from this office otherwise, except as required by law. Application by company commanders will be made to the headquarters of the commands to which their companies are attached.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Oct. 6, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 15.

I. General Orders, No. 12, A. G. O., dated Sept. 13, 1899, and General Orders, No. 13, A. G. O., dated Sept. 29, 1899, are hereby amended as follows, in order to take part in the reception to Admiral George Dewey : —

II. His Excellency the Governor and Commander-in-Chief will command the militia on the march October 14. Headquarters will be established at 11 A.M. on Arlington Street, opposite Commonwealth Avenue. Troops will be in readiness to move promptly at 12 M., and will be formed twelve files front, in addition to guides, and march in that formation, when possible. When the head of the column arrives at State House, Brig. Gen. Thomas R. Mathews, commanding First Brigade, M. V. M., will take command of the militia, passing in review before the Commander-in-Chief and Admiral Dewey, and proceeding to Boston Common, take charge of formation and ceremonies of turning over the war colors.

III. First Brigade will enter the Common by the Charles Street gate, and Second Brigade and all other troops by gate corner of Beacon and Charles streets.

IV. Brig. Gen. Thomas R. Mathews, commanding First Brigade, M. V. M., will report with his brigade on south side of Commonwealth Avenue, right resting at Arlington Street, at 11 o'clock A.M., on October 14.

V. Brig. Gen. William A. Bancroft, commanding Second Brigade, M. V. M., will report with his command on north side of Commonwealth Avenue, right resting at Arlington Street, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 14.

VI. Capt. John W. Weeks, commanding Naval Brigade, M. V. M., will report with his command on Beacon Street, right resting at corner of Arlington Street, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 14.

VII. Lieut. Col. Thomas F. Edmands, commanding First Corps of Cadets, having performed the duty of annual drill and having volunteered for this duty, will report with his command on Beacon Street, right resting on left of Naval Brigade, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 14.

VIII. Lieut. Col. Walter F. Peck, commanding Second Corps of Cadets, M. V. M., will report with his command on Beacon Street, right resting on left of First Corps of Cadets, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 14.

IX. Capt. Myles Standish, commanding Ambulance Corps, will report on Beacon Street, right resting on left of Second Corps of Cadets, at 11 o'clock A.M., October 14.

X. All commands will parade in fatigue uniform of blue, with campaign hats in place of fatigue caps; overcoats to be rolled in yoke. Companies will provide the coat straps of russet leather, same width as heretofore issued.

All troops will report with haversacks, canteens and dippers, also one ration to be carried in haversacks; dipper will be hung to strap of haversack.

XI. Troops will be rationed at the hour named by brigade and separate commanders, but troops will not be allowed to leave the line for rations. Arrangements for hot coffee should be made, and precautions taken that all horses are watered before the troops march.

XII. All mounted enlisted men will attach haversack and canteen to saddle; canteen on right, haversack on left side of saddle.

XIII. All commissioned officers will be held personally responsible for their commands, and no enlisted men will leave the ranks, or be excused, except for urgent reasons.

XIV. Troops will move over the following route: Arlington to Beacon, to Charles, to Boylston, to Tremont, to Winter, to Summer, to High, to Congress, to Milk, to India, to State (north side Old State House), to Washington, to School, to Beacon, passing in review before the Commander-in-Chief and Admiral Dewey at the State House, to Beacon Street gate of Common, where troops will be massed, and the colors of the Spanish war, carried from the Commonwealth by the six regiments of Massachusetts Infantry, U. S. Volunteers, will be officially turned over to the Commonwealth. At the conclusion of the formation of the division line, commanding officers of the sixth infantry regiments and Naval Brigade will be ordered to the front and centre of the division, with the color bearers bearing the war flags, when order will be given to salute the colors. At the conclusion of the salute officers and colors will face about, and, commencing with the senior commanding officer, each will turn over his colors to the Commander-in-Chief. The colors turned over will be escorted to the State House with the Commander-in-Chief by a detail of troops. At the conclusion of the ceremony on the Common the commands will be dismissed and at once return to home stations. Men will not appear on street in uniforms after dismissal at armories.

XV. The Surgeon General will make such arrangements as he deems proper for the proper care of troops, and forward ambulance to Boston.

XVI. Troops will arrange their transportation; mileage will be paid on pay rolls.

XVII. Brig. Gen. James L. Carter, Inspector General, will make assignments of inspection officers.

XVIII. Col. H. E. Converse, Acting Quartermaster General, will confer with brigade commanders and make sanitary arrangements; also provision for watering horses.

XIX. Brigade commanders will assign staff officers to railroad stations, to note the embarking, disembarking and conduct of troops.

XX. General Mathews will detail one company from each of the six infantry regiments and Naval Brigade as escort to the Commander-in-Chief and the war colors; also a commanding officer and such field and staff as he may deem necessary. This command will report front and centre of line at conclusion of ceremonies, and proceed by way of Charles and Beacon streets gate to State House, after which General Mathews will dismiss the troops.

XXI. The officer who is detailed to command escort to the colors will be ready to form battalions in accordance with rank of captains. Companies will be selected and the formation completed by General Mathews before October 14.

XXII. Gen. T. R. Mathews will detail a mounted color bearer from the First Brigade to report to the Adjutant General at 11 o'clock A.M., on Arlington Street, and a band leader for the consolidated band. Color bearer will provide socket on stirrup for colors. General Mathews is also authorized to make plans of formations and details of ceremonies and forward the same to commanding officers, and to call meetings of commanding officers of brigades and battalions prior to October 14, if he deems it necessary.

XXIII. Brig. Gen. Wm. A. Bancroft, commanding Second Brigade, M. V. M., will detail a mounted bugler to report to the Adjutant General at 11 o'clock A.M., on Arlington Street.

XXIV. Troops will be mustered for pay prior to 12 M., on October 14.

XXV. So much of General Order as prohibited troops from occupying the park on Commonwealth Avenue is hereby rescinded.

XXVI. The war colors will be placed in rear of color companies, with guard. Regimental and battalion colors will parade with color company in their usual position.

XXVII. On the march commands will take only regulation distance, and any break in column will be immediately reported to commanding officer.

XXVIII. If weather requires overcoats to be worn, capes will be hooked back outside, and equipments will be worn outside of overcoat.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Oct. 9, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 16.

I. General Orders, No. 15, A. G. O., dated Oct. 6, 1899, are hereby amended, and the route of march is changed as follows: Charles Street to Park Square, to Columbus Avenue, to Massachusetts Avenue, to Tremont, to Winter. Remainder of route remains as published in previous orders. The change leaves out Boylston Street from Charles to Tremont.

II. Dress of unmounted officers: white gloves, black fatigue belt worn under blouse and without leggings. White gloves and leggings will be worn by enlisted men.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Oct. 18, 1899.

IV. GENERAL PROVISIONS.—Uniform for the tour: for troops of the line, fatigue, with campaign hat and leggings, great coat in collar roll; for cadets and Naval Brigade, at discretion of commanding officers. Teams will provide their own ammunition, which will be brought to the range in the web belt. Teams and special duty details will muster for pay on the range, the senior officer of each team having ready the pay and assignment rolls for his command. Pay for field and staff officers, $4; line officers, $2.50; enlisted men, $2. Each team may comprise, besides its firing members, a captain and two substitutes, from whom coaches and spotters may be provided. Rations will be provided by team captains, or may be obtained on the range. Time limit, one minute per shot, including sighting shots. Rifles and carbines will be held subject to test of trigger-pull. Decisions will follow Blunt's Manual, so far as possible.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,

Adjutant General.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, Dec. 19, 1899.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 18.

I. Before a regimental court martial, pursuant to authority from First Brigade headquarters, by Special Orders, No. 36, current series, of which Lieut. Col. Charles B. Woodman, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M., was detailed to preside, which convened Nov. 27, 1899, in the armory of Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, were arraigned and tried:—

(a) Priv. Eugene F. Sullivan, Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M.

CHARGE 1. — Drunkenness at camp at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, Mass.

Specification 1. — In that Priv. Eugene F. Sullivan, Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M., did report and enter camp at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, Mass., in a state of drunkenness, and did persist in appearing publicly in the street of his battery (H) and in the quarters of his battery officers. This at camp at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 16, 1899, at about 5.30 o'clock P.M.

CHARGE 2. — Disrespect to his superior officers, to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.

Specification 1. — In that Priv. Eugene F. Sullivan, Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M., did appear in his battery (H) street without uniform cap, and in a state of drunkenness, and did disrespectfully and insolently address, after having been ordered to desist, and did so continue to address, his superior officer, to wit, Capt. Walter L. Pratt, Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M. This at camp at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 16, 1899, at about 6 o'clock P.M.

Specification 2. — In that Priv. Eugene F. Sullivan, Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M., did enter the quarters of his superior officer, to wit, Capt. Walter L. Pratt, Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M., and then and there, without proper military courtesy, and in a drunken condition, proceed to address and continue to address said Captain Pratt in a disrespectful and insolent manner, after having been ordered to desist by said Captain Pratt. This at camp at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 16, 1899, at about 6 o'clock P.M.

CHARGE 3. — Refusal to obey the orders of his superior officer.

Specification 1. — In that Priv. Eugene F. Sullivan, Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M., did, on receiving the verbal and proper orders of Capt. Walter L. Pratt, Battery H, First Regiment Heavy Artillery, M. V. M., refuse to obey the same. This at camp at Fort Rodman, New Bedford, Mass., on Aug. 16, 1899, at about 6 o'clock P.M.

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.

CIRCULAR.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, BOSTON, June 10, 1899.

CIRCULAR.

The following acts of the Legislature are published for the information of the militia: —

[CHAPTER 302.]

AN ACT RELATIVE TO THE PLACING OF OFFICERS UPON THE RETIRED LIST.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Any commissioned officer who was in the militia service on the first day of July in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, and who served in the army or navy of the United States at any time during the war of the rebellion and was honorably discharged, may, with the approval of the commander-in-chief, be placed upon the retired list, under the same conditions and with the same rank as he would have if retired after the passage of chapter eighty-four of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-eight.

SECTION 2. Any officer mentioned in section one of this act, if now upon the retired list, shall be given the same rank which he would have if retired after the passage of said chapter eighty-four. [Approved April 25, 1899.]

[CHAPTER 381.]

AN ACT RELATIVE TO EXAMINING BOARDS FOR OFFICERS OF THE VOLUNTEER MILITIA.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Every commissioned officer except the staff officers of the commander-in-chief, medical officers and chaplains shall, upon being notified as provided in section forty-two of chapter three hundred and sixty-seven of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-three, appear before an examining board, to consist of not less than five nor more than seven officers, to be designated by the commander-in-chief. The time for which the officers assigned for duty upon said board shall serve, and the composition of the same, shall be as ordered from time to time by the commander-in-chief.

SECTION 2. No member of said board shall take part in the examination of any officer, or give any opinion, information or advice as to his fitness or competence, in case such officer has any business or family connection with him, or might as a result of the examination come under his immediate command.

SECTION 3. In case of the temporary ineligibility or absence of any member of said board the commander-in-chief may, if he thinks it necessary, make a temporary detail to fill such vacancy.

SECTION 4. A complete record shall be kept by the secretary of the board, who shall be one of its members elected by the board, of all meetings of the board, and such a record shall be kept by the secretary of any special board or boards convoked under the provisions of this act. Such record shall embrace a statement at length of the proceedings, including the names of the members present, the name of any officer temporarily assigned for duty upon the board, the name of any officer who is absent and the cause of his absence, the name of every officer examined and the questions put to him, with his answers, and copies of all communications from and the originals of all communications to the board, together with the findings and action of the board in each case and the reasons therefor. Such record shall be submitted at the next meeting of the board or of any special board convoked under the provisions of this act, for approval or correction.

SECTION 5. The board shall examine such officers as appear before it, as to their military, moral, physical and general qualifications as hereinafter set forth, and shall administer the oaths prescribed in section fifty-four of said chapter three hundred and sixty-seven. If in the opinion of the board any such officer is competent the fact shall be certified to the commander-in-chief, who shall issue his order announcing the result of such examination. If any officer fails to pass a satisfactory examination before said board he may, within ten days from the time when he receives notice of his rejection, appeal for a re-examination to the commander-in-chief, who may, after an examination of the record of the case, order a re-examination of such officer before said board or before a board convoked especially for the purpose. Authority to convoke such special board is hereby given to the commander-in-chief.

SECTION 6. Medical officers shall appear before an examining board, to consist of three medical officers appointed by the commander-in-chief, which board shall certify to the competency of such officer, or give its reasons for refusing so to certify, in which latter case it shall transmit the complete record, and also its reasons for such refusal, to the commander-in-chief; and it shall administer the oath as prescribed for other commissioned officers.

SECTION 7. Any officer who fails to appear before a board of examiners within forty days after notice of the date of his election or appointment, or who fails to pass a satisfactory examination before such board, or before a board before which he may be ordered if granted a re-examination, shall forthwith be discharged by the commander-in-chief; but any such officer shall have the privilege of enlisting to secure continuous service, in which case his enlistment shall date from the day of his election to the office for which he failed to pass a satisfactory examination before the board of examiners, as provided in this section: provided, that he so enlists within thirty days from the date of his discharge from the office to which he was elected. Any commissioned officer who has been discharged by reason of failure to pass a satisfactory examination before the board of examiners, under the provisions of this section, shall not be eligible for election or appointment to a commission within two months after such discharge. Any officer resigning his commission shall have the privilege of enlisting to secure continuous service, in which case his enlistment shall date from the day of his resignation; provided, that he is mustered within thirty days from the date of his resignation.

SECTION 8. Examinations for staff positions except in the case of members of the staff of the commander-in-chief and medical officers, shall be limited to officers who have served in the regular or volunteer naval or military forces of the United States or in the militia or naval reserve of some state thereof, and may be of such general character as to experience and moral and military qualifications as the board may in each case determine. But nothing herein shall be interpreted as forbidding examinations as prescribed for other officers, if the board shall so order; and any staff officer shall, at his request, be examined in the manner provided for other officers.

SECTION 9. All other officers shall be examined as to their technical military qualifications by written questions prepared in advance, equal in number and as nearly equal in difficulty for officers of the same grade as possible, to which there shall be written answers; but such questions may be greater in number and difficulty for officers of higher grades. A number of sets of such questions for the several grades shall be prepared in advance, under the direction of the board, for examination of officers of the several grades; and no special set of questions shall be used in the examination of any officer, and no officer shall be informed in advance of any question or questions, or of any matter upon which he is to be examined. At such written examination every officer shall also make upon a prepared form, answers showing his military service and experience, and his residence and occupation. Any other questions which the board or any member thereof may desire to ask shall be fully written out, and the answers thereto shall be in writing by the officer undergoing examination. The board may make such other inquiry as it may deem necessary, relating to any officer ordered before it for examination, but such inquiry and the answer thereto shall in all cases be in writing, and all communications from and to the board shall be a part of the record in the case of the officer examined, and shall be preserved upon its files.

SECTION 10. Neither the board nor any member thereof shall make any inquiry or receive any communication relating to any officer before it, or who is to come before it, oral or written, except as above authorized, so far as the same may relate to any matter affecting his qualifications as an officer in the Massachusetts volunteer militia.

SECTION 11. The secretary of the board shall preserve all examinations, reports and papers, and the findings of the board in the case of each officer; and the same shall upon the demand of the commander-in-chief be laid before him. The provisions of this act shall, so far as they are applicable, apply also to any special board convoked by order of the commander-in-chief for examination of officers.

SECTION 12. Section fifty-three of chapter three hundred and sixty-seven of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-three, and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed.

SECTION 13. This act shall take effect upon its passage. [Approved May 22, 1899.]

By order of the Commander-in-Chief,

SAMUEL DALTON,
Adjutant General.
